COURT RULING SOUGHT ON LITTLE ROCK'S PROGRAM TO BYPASS SEGREGATION

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Rogers told the U. S. District Court in Arkansas today that the Little Rock School Board cannot legally lease its high school buildings to a private corporation for operation on a segregated basis. The attorney general said the Justice Department as a "friend of the court" in the Little Rock school litigation, had been served with a copy of the board's request that Federal Judge John E. Miller rule on the question of proposed leasing. As a result of that service, Rogers filed a "Memorandum of Law" with the Arkansas Court.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Little Rock School Board and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sought a ruling in federal court today on a plan to keep the schools segregated by leasing them to a private corporation.

Several Southern states with private school plans they hope will thwart federal court orders to integrate watched the Arkansas test with keen interest.

Pleas on petitions by the board and by the NAACP were slated to be heard by U. S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller at Fort Smith.

The NAACP asked Miller to restrain the board from leasing the school properties. The petition also asked that if private schools are opened they be required to admit Negro students under the integrated plan previously in effect at Central High.

The School Board has asked the court whether it may lease its buildings without being held in contempt.

Negro and white students fought Wednesday in Little Rock and on Chicago's South Side. At Norfolk, Va., students demonstrated quietly in an effort to get a high school opened.

Six Norfolk schools with 10,000 pupils face closure by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. under Virginia's massive resistance laws if a final order to integrate comes. Their opening has been delayed pending court action. Already closed are schools at Front Royal and Charlottesville.

Private classes began at Charlottesville, where pupils of the Venable Elementary School carried their own chairs into basements and playgrounds of residences for instruction. A committee was set up to start similar teaching of the ousted high school students.

Citizens of the Front Royal community are planning to organize private instruction for their 1,000 idle pupils in Warren County.

Fifteen Negroes and six white youths fought near a Little Rock junior high school. Three white youths were injured. Witnesses said the Negroes (Turn to Page Nineteen)

Two Held at Erie for Burglarizing Cottages

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Two young men are awaiting grand jury action on charges of burglarizing a cottage and garage in Erie County.

Arrested by state police Wednesday night were James E. Fish, 21, of McKean, R.D. 1, Erie County, and Jerry H. Howell, 18, of Cambridge Springs, R.D. 3, Crawford County. They pleaded guilty before an alderman.

Police said the pair admitted taking a television set, radio and archery and fishing equipment from the cottage of Harvey Niehamer in Green Twp. Officers said they also admitted stealing a wheel and motor from a garage.

Girl, 16, Admits Killing Her Brother for Excitement

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A boned teen-age girl, described as a brilliant high school senior, has admitted killing her brother and planning to kill her parents because nothing exciting ever happened around their suburban home.

"I wasn't mad at anybody," Diana Day Humphries, 16, said in a written statement to police. The statement detailed how she shot her brother, Robert D. Humphries Jr., 14, to death Tuesday but backed out on plans to kill her parents when she saw her mother, Mrs. R. D. Humphries, an airline clerk, approach the house.

Diana is being held without charge. Juvenile authorities said she will be given psychiatric tests.

Robert was killed as he walked into the den at his home upon returning from school. Diana said she held a .22-caliber rifle in her hands as she watched television and waited for Robert to walk into the den.

"When he walked from the kitchen through the door to the den, I shot him," she said. "He fell forward into the den and his books dropped. I put another bullet into the gun as quick as I could because I didn't know if he was dead, and I didn't want him to suffer. So I shot him again in the back of his head."

Boy Faints After Fracas

Billy Gene Smith, 15, a student at Little Rock's West Side Junior High School, is shown on a bed in the school following a fight between several white students and Negroes. Military Adviser Declares Island Licking Supply Block QUEMOY (AP)—Col. Douglas Lane, chief U. S. military adviser on Quemoy, said today this shell-blasted Nationalist Chinese island fortress is licking a critical supply problem.

"Everyone is still worried about supply situation, but supplies are getting in," Lane told newsmen.

"Progress is being made every day with every supply mission. There has been a lot of progress, but that does not mean there is not room for much more progress."

How much is being landed by ship or airdropped on the yellow sand beaches was kept secret.

But supplies are being landed almost daily on both this island and Little Quemoy. More than 10 parachutes with supplies attached were sighted two mornings in a row by newsmen this week on one small beach area after successful night drops.

In a separate news conference, Lt. Gen. Ko Yueng-fen, deputy commander of the Nationalist garrison, admitted Quemoy's defenders had to dip into war reserves earlier this month when the Red artillery blockade shut off all imports.

But Ko said the reserves are now being built up again.

Lane, from Maysville, Okla., told reporters the Nationalists under present conditions could turn back any invasion attempt. Morale of the defenders is excellent and morale of the American advisers could not be better, he said.

Mystery Figure in Tax Scandals in 1953 Passes Away

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry The Dutchman Grunewald, pictured as a high-priced fixer by witnesses in the 1953 investigation of federal tax scandals, died today.

The 65-year-old Grunewald was a figure of mystery, with a reputation as a wire puller, during the Truman administration.

He suffered a stroke Monday and had been unconscious in a hospital here since then. In the last five years he had survived five heart attacks.

In 1955, Grunewald and two others were convicted of conspiracy in a $160,000 payoff to Grunewald to kill federal tax prosecutions against two firms. They won a reversal in the Supreme Court, however, on a legal technicality. A New York jury deadlocked last July in a first retrial, and a second trial had been set for Oct. 6.

The codefendants are Daniel A. Bolich, former assistant internal revenue commissioner; and Max Halperin, a New York lawyer for two firms which were having income tax troubles in the late 1940s.

JUDGE THREATENED

LONDON (AP)—A murder-threat letter has been sent Justice Cyril Salmon, the British judge who sentenced nine white youths to four-year jail terms for attacking Negroes. He was given a police guard.

Britain Concerned Over Far East Issue

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan met with his Cabinet today to discuss the Far East situation as concern mounted in Britain about the future course of American action in the area.

The Prime Minister later was to meet a delegation from Britain's parent Labor group — the Trades Union Congress representing more than eight million British workers.

National newspapers, some supporting the opposition labor party, backed up the TUC and joined in its appeal for a clear British policy statement emphasizing that Britain would not join in any war between the United States and Red China over the Formosa issue.

U.A.W. Walkouts Are Denounced by General Motors

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors, just five days away from a strike deadline, and Chrysler headed back into contract talks with the United Auto Workers today against a backdrop of crippling wildcat walkouts.

GM flatly labeled the walkouts part of a master plan being directed by UAW leaders in Detroit to bring pressure to bear in the contract negotiations.

Chrysler hinted at a similar sentiment, saying the "timing and extent of these walkouts clearly indicates that they are not all spontaneous affairs over local issues."

The union said the strikes grew out of what it called the companies' refusal to negotiate local grievances. It publicly asked its members in GM and Chrysler plants to stay on their jobs.

More than 57,000 workers in plants across the country were idled—32,000 on GM plants, 14,000 in Chrysler plants and 11,300 in Ford plants.

GM has 250,000 UAW employees, Ford 98,000 and Chrysler 70,000.

UAW President Walter Reuther plans to join the negotiations with GM tomorrow, following a meeting today of the union's national Ford Council. The meeting was (Turn to Page Nineteen)

Filly Valued at $25,000 Goes Berserk on Plane

NEW YORK (AP)—A $25,000 filly sired by Native Dancer and owned by Aly Khan went wild in a cargo plane Wednesday. The horse injured itself so badly it had to be destroyed.

The KLM plane was taking off from Idlewild Airport for Amsterdam when the yearling broke out of a stall. Two groomers were unable to calm the horse, which had no name. The plane stayed on the ground and a veterinarian was called. He destroyed the animal.

BACKSTAGE TALKS HOLD SPOTLIGHT

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd today called on both Red China and the Chinese Nationalists to end their military activities in Formosa Strait immediately.

He urged further that "the whole world community should join in insisting that this matter should not be settled by force." He made no specific reference to the military role of the United States in support of the Nationalists.

The British leader spoke before the 81-nation General Assembly as U.S. and Chinese Communist representatives met for the fourth time in Warsaw in an effort to find a formula to stop the fighting.

He expressed his government's hope that the Warsaw talks would result in an immediate cease-fire which would lead to later negotiations on the various claims and counter claims involved.

Lloyd made it clear that Britain blamed the current crisis on the Chinese Communist bombardment of the off-shore island of Quemoy. He also praised what he called the conciliatory approach by the United States.

It was felt certain that Britain will back any U.S. move to bring Formosa before the United Nations. But British spokesmen have been echoing the American stand that no action should be taken until the Warsaw talks have a chance to produce results.

Indications mounted in the Polish capital that the talks between U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red China's envoy Wang Ping-nan were at the climactic stage in an atmosphere of gloom.

If they produce nothing in the next few days the United States is expected to seek U.N. action.

The British public appears split over Formosa, with the Laborites warning against getting embroiled in a third world war and Conservatives suggesting that Britain might play a behind the scenes role as counselor of caution.

Prince Wan Waihayakon, Thailand's foreign minister and former Assembly president, predicted in an interview that U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld would be asked to go to Peiping as he did in 1955 when he negotiated the release of 11 imprisoned U.S. airmen.

Prince Wan added that Hammarskjöld probably would set up a summit conference on Formosa with the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union, Red China and India.

Gubernatorial Candidates Will Meet Publishers

HARRISBURG (AP)—The two major gubernatorial candidates — Democrat David L. Lawrence and Republican Arthur T. McConigle — will meet newspaper publishers in special press conferences at Pittsburgh Oct. 11.

The give-and-take between the candidates and newspaper executives will be a feature of the 34th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Assn. Oct. 9-11.

McConigle and Lawrence will meet with the newspapermen in separate sessions Saturday morning in a hotel ballroom. The special conference will be open to the working press as well as to convention delegates.

The Republican and Democratic candidates for the Pennsylvania governorship are appearing at the convention at the invitation of PNPA President David M. Turner, co-publisher of the Towanda Daily Review.

LIAS SUIT DISMISSED

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—A $90,100 suit against William G. Lias, former owner of Wheeling Downs, was dismissed Wednesday by U. S. District Court here.

Two Washington attorneys, James M. Barnes and Thurman Hill, filed the suit last March 17, claiming the money was owed them for legal services.

Judge Herbert S. Boreman said that the "matters in controversy have been settled."

Fluoridated Water Issue Raised Again

The fluorine question is once again before the local public eye. Dr. Juggins of the State Health Department in Meadville has appeared locally talking to dentists, doctors and PTA groups in an effort to have the chemical added to the water supply. Those in favor of fluorine claim it helps prevent tooth decay when a minute amount of the tasteless chemical is added to the water supply. Others claim it pollutes the system.

Missile Town Normal After Rocket Crash

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

The Cape and the missile-mad town of Cocoa Beach returned to normal today after a hectic seven hours during which a Polaris test rocket ran amok and another missile crashed and burned.

No one was hurt, but quite a few persons were shaken for a time.

The area, a finger of land that juts out into the Atlantic off Florida's east coast, was bombed with fiery debris Wednesday when the Polaris twisted crazily off course and was blasted from the sky.

Later, an X10 experimental missile crashed and disappeared in flames when it overshot the cape landing strip after completing a test with the Air Force's Bomarc air defense missile.

The Polaris burst into two parts at about 50,000 feet after a quick-thinking range safety officer pressed an automatic destruction button. His instruments showed the rocket was tipping toward the densely populated mainland rather than curving out over the Atlantic.

One flaming section splashed into the Banana River beside Cocoa Beach and the other landed on the cape after tracing puffy trails of white smoke across the sky.

It was the first time that a run-away missile threatened a residential area since the cape opened in 1950.

It was learned that the rocket went out of control when a malfunction developed in the programmer, a small electrical device that directs the control system.

The X10, a turbojet powered missile, was shot aloft as a drone target for the deadly Bomarc.

The 300-mile Bomarc travels at three times the speed of sound to seek out and destroy an enemy airborne target.

As far as it was known, it was the first time one U.S. missile had been fired at another in a test. The results of the test were not announced.

Plans Special Service For "Ham" Operators

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—An Episcopal minister has beamed the message of God to amateur radio operators, and at least 200 of them are reading him clearly.

The Rev. Albert E. Martin, pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal church and a ham operator himself for 12 years, will hold a special church service and get-together for amateur operators next Sunday.

He said Wednesday that he has acceptances from 200 hams in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Mr. Martin went on the air earlier this week with the invitation. "God calls on CQ" was the way he started his nightly broadcast. Then followed a message and the invitation to listen at 10 a. m. Sunday.

A social hour will follow the service so the amateurs can talk about their rigs.

FIRE AT MILLVALE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fire Chief James R. Corfield estimates $35,000 loss in a blaze that damaged his brother Albert's tire recapping shop and two adjacent houses in suburban Millvale.

Firemen had to wear masks while battling the blaze Wednesday. Feeding on tires and recapping material, the fire spread heavy, black smoke over the area.

COMMUNIST SHELLING OF OFFSHORE ISLANDS FIRES 1,852 ROUNDS BY NOON

BULLETIN

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—United States and Chinese representatives conferred for one hour and 45 minutes today on a Formosa Strait cease-fire and agreed to meet again next Tuesday. The lengthy delay was interpreted as meaning the two powers would make a final effort to reach agreement by next week. Western diplomats believed the focus of attention on these negotiations would shift to Washington where Secretary of State Dulles and President Eisenhower are expected to redefine the American position.

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry today claimed artillery fire from Quemoy knocked out 16 Communist guns and six artillery emplacements Wednesday.

Nationalist gunners also blew up a mainland ammunition depot, a gasoline store and a radar station, the ministry said. Communist shelling of the offshore islands started off its 34th day with 1,852 rounds by noon, according to Nationalist count. The Reds hurled 6,211 shells at the Quemoy's Wednesday, the Qualified sources in Taipei said the Nationalists were not pressing the United States to assist in Nationalist bombing of the mainland gun positions. The U.S. ban is intended to keep the fighting over the Quemoy's from spreading to Formosa, which Washington is pledged to defend.

Fighting between Red China and the United States could lead to a major war.

"We understand fully and sympathetically America's position," said a Nationalist official who declined to be identified.

The Nationalists accused the Communists of trying to force Nationalist jet fighters over the mainland in the hope of shooting one down and claiming it was raiding Red China.

In the resulting aerial battle between 32 Nationalist Sabre Jets and more than 100 Soviet-designed MIGs, 10 MIGs were shot down and two more possibly destroyed, the Defense Ministry said. The claim was based on study of gun camera films by both Chinese and U.S. Air Force experts.

The ministry denied a Peiping radio claim that one Sabre Jet was shot down and one damaged. The U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command denied a Red Chinese broadcast claim that "two U.S. F4D fighters intruded over Communist China's territorial airspace in the Amoy area in Fukien province Wednesday." The F4D is a carrier-based Navy supersonic jet fighter. Amoy is just west of Quemoy.

On Quemoy, the chief U.S. military adviser was still worried about getting supplies through the Red artillery blockade, AP correspondent Forrest Edwards reported.

Meany Scheduled to Address I.U.E. Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, is scheduled to make the major address today at the eighth annual convention of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Later in the day, a group of delegates, employees of the General Electric Co., will consider a controversial strike call set for next Thursday.

James Carey, IUE president, told the convention Wednesday that a number of officers in nine major locals which voted against the international's strike strategy should resign.

The IUE is negotiating with GE for a layoff plan, severance pay for employees dropped through automation, and reduction of the work week with no cut in wages.

Bulls and Bears Have Ups And Downs in News Picture

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bulls and bears—definitely not the stock market variety — had their ups and downs on the news front Wednesday.

At Princeton, Mo., a hopped-up Hereford bull, breaking out of a barn invaded playgrounds of a junior high and an elementary school during recess. At the junior high, about 160 pupils made like rabbits to the schoolhouse. Mrs. Jewel Hagan, a teacher, providing rear guard action, was charged by Mr. Bull. She climbed a fence to safety.

At the elementary school near by the bull charged Mrs. Jessie Alley, a teacher. She dodged and escaped. It butted 10-year-old Maureen David from a swing, but fell down. Maureen and her classmates fled. Livestock handlers finally corralled the bull.

At Buena Vista, Colo., a big black bear ambled down out of the mountains. After munching on some apples in an orchard, it climbed into a cottonwood tree and relaxed. A crowd gathered. Game Warden A. C. Jordan tried to coax the bear to come down. Honeyed phrases were no use. The bear wouldn't budge. The townsfolk protested when Jordan figured he'd have to shoot the animal, so he put away his gun.

At last report brother Bear still was sprawled in the big tree, blinking curiously at the two-legged characters gathered beneath him.

At South Portland, Maine, it was Bull Moose Day. The 900-pound creature was grazing peacefully in (Turn to Page Nineteen)

Information on Proposed Night School Classes

Warren High School news-writing class submits the following concerning proposed Night School classes:

Registration for Evening School for industry will take place Sept. 29 at 7:00 p.m. in the High School auditorium under the sponsorship of Pennsylvania State University. Any course which is offered in the High School will be offered in the Evening School if 20 or more persons enroll in the course.

A deposit of $5.00 is requested of each adult enrolling in the evening school. The five dollars will be refunded if a person attends 75% of the class sessions.

Courses from which those interested may take selections are typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, machine shop (metal), art, drafting, blue print reading, English for the foreign born, German, Spanish, speech, woodworking, sewing, and petroleum refining.

Courses in Metallurgy being offered as metallurgy 901 and 902. Metallurgy 901, Introduction to Ferrous Metallurgy. This is the first course of an integrated three-year (three course) program in Ferrous Metallurgy. Persons interested in taking the entire three-year program are urged to enroll in this initial course and thereby be prepared to take the next two courses in subsequent years. This course deals with the principles of chemistry and physics which apply to metallurgical processes, metallurgical fuels, refractories, steelmaking raw materials, and a survey study of the blast furnace process.

Metallurgy 902, The Manufacture and Fabrication of Steel. This is the second course of the three-year Ferrous Metallurgy program. It deals first with the steelmaking processes, such as the open hearth, bessemer, electric furnace, oxygen, and vacuum furnace processes, and then with forming processes such as rolling, forging, drawing and extrusion.

Although it is recommended that persons have a high school education prior to enrolling in the above courses, this is waived for persons who have several years experience in a metal processing plant and who have a sincere interest in learning the metallurgical fundamentals which determine the "why" of following certain plant practices.

These courses are open to anyone employed in any type of steelmaking and processing plant—whether it be a steel producing or steel fabricating plant. They are not college-level nor college credit courses. They are related instruction courses designed for non-college or non-metallurgically trained employees in metals plants.

Employment In Pittsburgh Area Shows Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Employment in the four-county Pittsburgh labor district increased 2,300 to 854,400 in August the State Bureau of Employment Security reported today.

The monthly report said, however, that employment in Allegheny, Beaver, Washington and Westmoreland Counties still is 7.6 per cent below August last year.

The most significant gains in employment were made in the primary metal industry but some gains also were noted in industries working with clay, glass, paper, food, coal and oil.

The bureau of employment said the number of unemployed in the four-county area decreased to 112,700 but did not give a comparative figure for earlier months or the same period last year.

Some increased unemployment was noted in such businesses as metal fabricating, transportation equipment producers and machinery equipment producers.

Student Writes of Her Experiences in Russia

Editor's Note—The Soviet Union is still a land of mystery to most Americans, but some U. S. exchange students have been given the opportunity to see it first-hand. Beverly Deepe, a 23-year-old Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Nebraska just back from there, introduces some Soviet students in this first of four articles on her experiences in the Soviet Union and the satellite countries.

Yes, there is a vacation-land in the U.S.S.R. But most Americans might think it easier to just keep working than to play the Soviet way.

While touring the Soviet Union as a member of an American student group, I visited a typical vacation camp: the Gorenok tourist base in the mountains outside the Central Asian city of Alma-Ata. At 7 a.m., the Soviet national anthem blared from loud-speakers, blasting snoozers out of the sleeping bags for 10 minutes of directed calisthenics outdoors.

Campers whipped their beds into shape and dashed to the mountain stream for a quick wash before reporting at 8 a.m. for a breakfast of rice, chicken, bread, butter and tea.

Then campers hustled out for a morning hike into the mountains, returning at 2 p.m. for a lunch of potatoes, beefsteak, soup, rolls, butter, fruit compote and tea.

Not everybody went on the hike. Some were already on other hikes of two to seven days into the high glacier peaks.

There was time out for a three-hour rest in the afternoon, "baths" in dishpans of water in the so-called "shower house," and then table tennis, pool, dominoes or volleyball before dinner.

Dancing and a movie followed dinner. Lights went out at 11 p.m. and exhausted vacationers tumbled into their sleeping bags.

No alcoholic beverages are allowed.

The round of hiking and relaxation sparked excitement only when a group came back from a long mountain hike.

Then the group commander saluted the camp director with a report and the welcoming party enlisted for the occasion whooped a rousing cheer to "physical-cul."

Sanitary conditions in the tourist camp were primitive. There were four lavatories for women—one had a broken faucet, one a broken basin, the third had a clogged drain and the fourth worked but had a continually running faucet.

Other toilet facilities were primitive and unimaginably fouled.

Dishes were washed in small kettles of cold water; hot water was available only for tea and coffee.

Gorenok is one of a string of vacation places stretching from the northern waters of the Baltic to the luxurious "Russian Riviera" on the Black Sea.

Here, Russians play as hard during vacations as they work the rest of the year. The picture is completely different from the free-moving, easy-going vacations of the American family.

Both husband and wife in the must frequently spend their vacations in separate places at different times. Children go to country summer camps or daylong programs in city Palaces of Culture from the end of May to the beginning of September.

An air of military discipline prevails in the children's camps. Observers who have seen both the Soviet youth program and the Nazi youth camps in Hitler Germany say there are remarkable similarities.

Vacations don't cost much in the Soviet Union. Campers at Gorenok pay 30 rubles a day ($3 at tourist exchange rate), but the government and trade unions pay part of the money.

Gas Tax Refunds To Municipalities To Be Speeded Up

HARRISBURG — The State Board of Finance and Revenue said today it expects to establish a new record for prompt payment of gasoline tax refunds to Pennsylvania farmers.

W. Ken Duffy, Secretary of the Board, said more than 35,000 farmers are expected to file applications for reimbursement prior to the September 30 deadline.

The refunds, he explained, cover gasoline taxes paid on fuel used exclusively in the production of agricultural products.

"With the progress we are presently making, we will have actually paid between 25,000 and 30,000 farmers by the end of October," reported Duffy.

"If we accomplish this anticipated goal, the entire program will be at least seven months or more ahead of any previous year."

Three-fourths of the farmers seeking refunds will receive checks within one month, after the September 30 cut-off date, according to Duffy.

He reported 43,500 farmers are presently carrying on the reimbursement roster. Requests for applications are being received at the rate of approximately 100 daily.

Duffy pointed out that as of this date, 17,060 claim forms have been returned to the Board and checks have been issued to 12,000 eligible farmers.

"We are virtually paying claims as fast as we receive the forms from the farmers," stated Duffy.

Last year, the Board paid a total of $2,582,697 to some 25,600 farmers who returned applications to the Board.

ANNUAL HAZARD

A timely reminder for motorists is contained in the following printed in the Bradford Era under the heading "Annual Hazard."

Autumn arrived officially on the scene at 9:10 a. m. Tuesday. With it, it brings a full quota of many good things—color, bright blue skies, ripe apples and, of course, football.

Fall also supplies us with some hazards, too. So we should be prepared.

As days shorten and dusky comes sooner, problems of vision may occur in times of heavier traffic. That calls for extra alertness at the wheel.

Fog, a symbol of changing seasons in these parts, must also be given proper respect. We shouldn't drive so fast that our speed exceeds our vision.

And, finally, fall's combination of falling rain and falling leaves often makes streets and highways very slippery. Don't skid into an accident!

TOUCH OF NATURE

In our big cities, Nature is mostly confined to parks. Occasionally some bold souls decide to line a downtown street with trees, but that's all. So when Nature dares to invade the solid stone and asphalt fortress, it can be a shock.

It happened recently in New York, the biggest fortress of all. Promptly at 7:30 one morning, as the doors of an office building were opened, a small, brown bird flew into the lobby and took up station.

For long hours this calm little creature stayed perched on a ledge above the bank of elevators. Tentatively, some tried to approach it with food and water, but it always drew back.

Finally the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals sent a chap with a net. The elusive bird descended to the lobby floor, and a sort of genteel panic developed. Some passersby were trying to catch the bird, others to keep from stepping on it.

It was late in the day when the fellow with the net succeeded. His report is in. It was a Virginia rail, perfectly harmless. Nature has yielded its small bridgehead, and that lobby on Seventh avenue is quiet again.

The period October 5 to 11 has been designated by Governor George M. Leader as Fire Prevention Week in Pennsylvania.

Marlow Looks At TODAY'S NEWS

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

The official Chinese Communist press has called President Eisenhower a hooligan.

The Soviet Communist party has used its own official press to attack President Eisenhower personally and slanderously.

There is more than a suggestion of fury in all this. Perhaps some of the best laid plans of Mao Tse-tung and Nikita Khrushchev have been derailed.

It is not a matter of particular note that Khrushchev is furious. He usually is. It is just that he is getting fiercer and fiercer.

Khrushchev long ago discarded the notion that diplomacy should be the science of saying the most offensive things in the least offensive way. He seldom has had anything nice to say to the west at any time. When he has had something offensive, he has let it go in all its naked nastiness.

The Soviet boss, never aspiring to be the polished diplomat, has used epithets freely. He has used such endearing terms as "warmonger" and "arch-criminal" in speaking of Winston Churchill.

Only recently he has seen fit to compare France's Premier de Gaulle with Hitler. But he had been a little more cautious—up to now—in his exchanges with President Eisenhower.

Now, however, he and his Chinese allies sound like two voices of a musical row.

A couple of days ago the official Chinese Communist press accused President Eisenhower of adopting "hooliganist methods" in rejecting Khrushchev's Sept. 19 letter. In that communication Khrushchev had accused the President of being a captive of a Dulles "brink of war" policy and of using atomic blackmail.

Hooligan is a Russian word and a nasty one, meaning the lowest type of rowdy. But the controlled Peiping press went beyond that. It compared the President with former Secretary of Defense Forrestal, who, it said, "suffering from military hysteria, went mad when it seemed to him Soviet planes already were bombing New York, and jumped from a window." Pravda, Khrushchev's official voice, saw fit to reprint this Peiping bit Wednesday.

In itself, all this fury is most interesting.

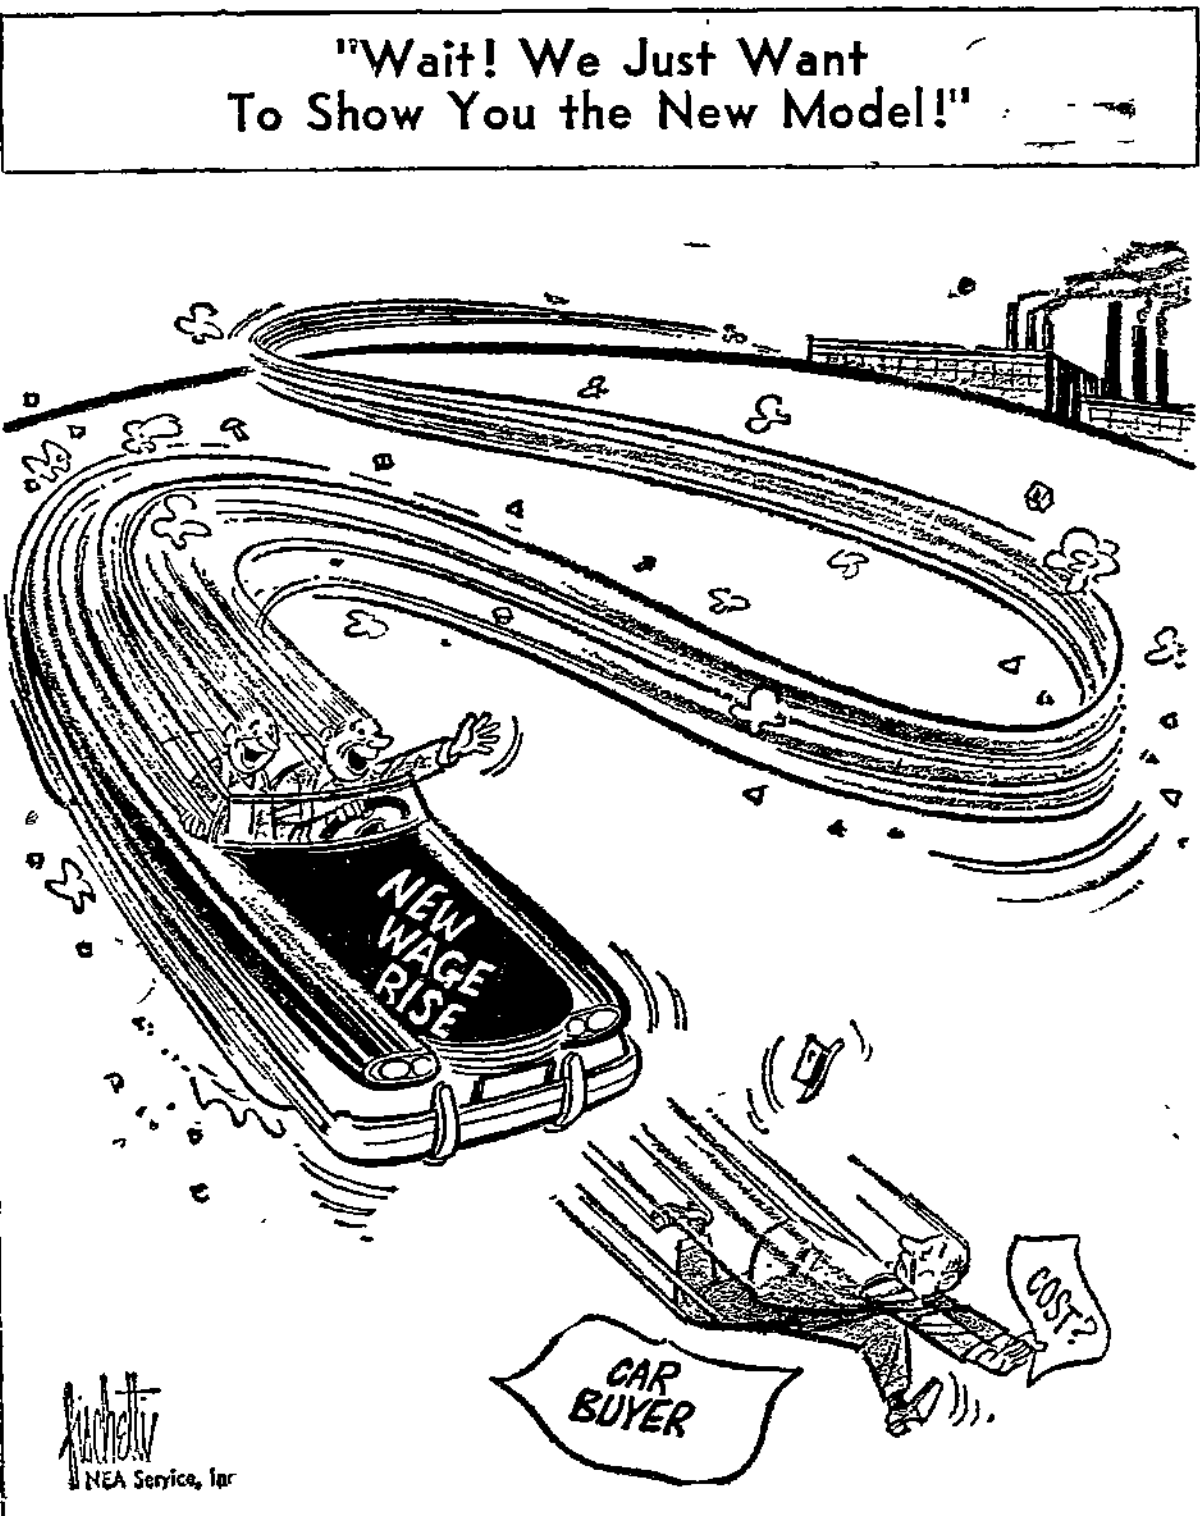

Possibly the least that had been expected of Khrushchev's letter was that it would bring a reply. The reply would call for another Khrushchev broadside and a debate would be under way in which the Communists could try to make fruitful propaganda.

Under this propaganda screen, the Communists might find a profitable way of easing off, temporarily, their pressure in the current Far East crisis, which is becoming more dangerous daily. The Chinese themselves were involved in a brink of war policy, without much to back it up, and the Soviets were committed to go to Chinese aid in the event of a shooting war with a third party.

A propaganda debate could be a springboard for another of Khrushchev's famous and ferocious letter-writing campaigns to frighten other governments and populations.

When Eisenhower rejected Khrushchev's letter out of hand, Red policy was in an awkward position. It had blustered and threatened. The threats and bluster had been dismissed as boorishness.

What could the Communists do next? They could hardly try again in a softer voice and admit the error of the previous approach. They would hardly want the outside world to think their bluff had been called. But they could scarcely resort to deeds instead of words. The Red Chinese cannot afford a major war and the Soviets have shown no enthusiasm for the prospect. Perhaps the big noise is designed to cover up a temporary confusion.

Here and There

Seems that we have neglected up to the present time to remind that the period September 21 to 27, had been designated as National Dog Week, which reminds us that a monument to Old Drum, the hound dog whose killing caused the famous trial in 1870, in which a certain Senator Vest made such an eloquent tribute to his pet that the jury, after two minutes' deliberation, awarded the owner $500 damages in spite of the fact that only $200 had been asked. The canine had been shot by a neighbor. The monument is to be located directly in front of the old court house where Senator Vest gave his now classic "Tribute to the Dog" which is quoted in full as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

"Gentlemen of the Jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no

Maine Went, But Nobody Else Has to Follow, Is View

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Local issues—not national—were responsible for the cllobbering which the Republicans took in the Maine elections. This is the interpretation on the results made at GOP headquarters here after a careful analysis of returns.

First reaction was that Maine results showed resentment over the recession and protest against relations between New England industrialist Bernard Goldfine and White House Assistant President Sherman Adams.

The quick and gloomy conclusion was that this would be a Democratic year and the GOP might as well give up. Today the Republicans put a different appraisal on the situation. They ascribe what happened in Maine to four principal factors:

It was a contest between local personalities and the Democrats just had the better and more appealing candidates.

There was a strong Catholic vote factor involved.

Democrats were better organized than the Republicans.

Organized labor threw its weight behind the Democrats and gave them solid support, financially and with votes.

IN THE PRINCIPAL RACE for the U.S. Senate seat, Democratic Governor Edmund S. Muskie had it all over Republican Senator Frederick G. Payne, running for re-election. The differences weren't open issues, but they were talked about privately.

Senator Payne had been divorced twice and his ex-wives did nothing to help his candidacy. By contrast, Gov. Muskie got real help from his wife, mother of his three children—a fine family with good home life and real political appeal.

The Muskies are Catholic and the big Catholic vote in southern Maine turned out to support the governor, even to Republicans. Plenty of Protestants joined them, not liking Payne.

Senator Payne's admission that he had accepted a vicuna coat and other favors from Goldfine had their effect. It was not what Sherman Adams did on this count that influenced Maine voters. It was what Payne had done. Coupled with charges of irregularities in 1952, Payne had two strikes against him.

BERNARD GOLDFINE COMPANIES operate mills in Maine. Their unemployment record is said to be not too bad. Maine's unemployment has run 6 to 9 per cent. Some of this goes back long periods, to the time when mills first began to move south. But no 12 per cent-and-over unemployment has been reported. So the recession was not considered a decisive factor.

Republican leaders in Maine had warned that Muskie's popularity might carry other Democratic candidates to victory with him. That's what happened in the governorship and two of the three congressional districts.

It developed during the campaign, however, that the Republican state organization was largely a paper directory. The campaign workers just weren't there. Holdovers from the days when GOP victories in Maine were automatic and taken for granted, they failed to deliver either money or votes. And so they lost.

This is now seen to be the big weakness, nationally, which the GOP will have to correct if it is to overcome its handicap and do better in the November election.

In the rotunda of the Capitol building in Washington, D.C., are four paintings by John Trumbull picturing important events in the American Revolution. Trumbull was 19 when he served as aide-de-camp to George Washington. He retired from the army as a colonel and went to London to study under the famous painter Benjamin West. Though a soldier and a diplomat he never discontinued his painting.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrial leaders today are asking: How big a gain in business can we expect? Some brave ones are already answering.

If the turn in the economy means better sales prospects, they need to pinpoint the share they can expect and to set the production and marketing plans that will capture it.

Coast-to-coast telephone interviews today with leaders in key industries and some government spending experts show how the thinking is running.

It adds up largely to a moderate to good advance this fall in durables and soft goods, with 1959 prospects brighter. The interviews highlight a special marketing conference here of the American Management Assn.

Malcolm P. Ferguson, president of Bendix Aviation in Detroit, stresses the government's big role. He foresees "a four to five year period of defense expenditures substantially at the present rate and with increased emphasis on new weapons systems and research and development." But he looks for "little or no increase in the volume of procurement of so-called conventional equipment and soft goods."

In this connection the Department of Commerce is just out with a prediction that procurement contracts to be signed by the Defense Department this fiscal year will reach 19 billion dollars, up a billion from last year.

Robert S. Stevenson, president of Allis-Chalmers of West Allis, Wis., says "1958 is showing decided strength" in the farm equipment industry, which felt the recession ahead of most others, and is recovering sooner. A big help farm income is 5 to 6 per cent ahead of 1957.

Arthur Rosenbaum, manager of the Economic Research Division of Sears, Roebuck of Chicago, thinks national retail sales of soft goods will be only 1 per cent higher this fall than last, but look for a 4 to 5 per cent gain for next spring over the previous year figures. Women's and children's apparel show a stronger, sale trend than men's clothing. Retail competition is holding down the pressures for price increases, he says.

A. B. Layton, president of Crown-Zellerbach of San Francisco, reports the paper industry operating around 85 per cent of capacity although production is only 10 per cent below the 1956 high. He says: "The excess capacity comes from substantial new facilities started several years ago in expectation of increasing growth, but completed amid a recession."

Boyle's Column

LONDON (AP)—Today's wonder drugs work miracles, but old-fashioned prayer, faith and laughter are still potent healers.

A Jewish family radioed from America: "You are always in our prayers."

The wife improved but her doctors said an operation was necessary. They took out a rib and two sections of her right lung.

"Ah, well," she said with a smile, "I always did talk too much."

Three days and four blood transfusions later, the wife pointed feebly to a sign on her hospital door.

"Engaged," said the sign.

"Honey," she said to her husband, "will you scratch out the word 'engaged'?"

"Yes, but why?"

"Well, after 15 years married life, don't you think it should at least read, 'married'?"

The eminent doctor beside her bed smiled. He shook his head. Surgeon to King George VI, he was one of the world's greatest authorities on tuberculosis.

"Drugs and operations work miracles," he said. "So does laughter such as that."

This week the wife was allowed to dress and go outside the hospital grounds with her husband to have tea.

Her gaiety seemed to fill the sunlit garden—even when she said a quiet prayer of thanks.

I know the story's true because the wife's my wife.

The motto, E Pluribus Unum which is engraved on United States coins, came from the title page of a pamphlet published before the American Revolution called "Gentleman's Magazine."

Eventually, he came to the winning decision and played the eight of clubs. South had to play his singleton ace and when I got in with the queen of diamonds I was able to make four club tricks and set the hand.

In an ordinary game, I am sure that my partner would have played the eight of clubs much quicker, but this was the final session of the American Whist League's 1954 team championship and Mr. Vanderbilt thought the hand might prove important.

It turned out that it did. At the other table our partners had bid and made five diamonds. If Harold had gone up with the queen of clubs, South would have made four or five no trump and won the board for his team.

As it was, we won the board and when the final results were tabulated that board turned out to be our exact margin of victory, so this play had decided the whole tournament.

Hobby For Autumn

There was a time when men dreamed of going to California to make their worldly fortunes panning gold on the shores of rushing mountain streams. Years passed and a new generation went west for another reason—to profit from the gold in the oranges which grew in such abundance. Probably few travelers to that great state have gone with the intention of looking there for that most satisfying gift of golden hours—a rewarding hobby.

When Raymah Akeley left Warren for Morro Bay, just north of San Luis Obispo, on the edge of the Pacific back in 1952 she had no thought of looking for and finding a hobby which was going to fill her spare time so pleasantly and profitably for the next few years.

Morro Bay is the center of an artist colony of some reputation. One of the artists who was skilled not only as a painter in oils but also as a worker with leather and metals offered to teach a series of lessons in the art of etching and tooling copper.

Mrs. Akeley became interested in the course and took the lessons. Since that time she has spent many hours absorbed in this hobby, which has proved such a pleasant pastime—not requiring too much physical activity and not being beyond the purse of the average person.

She has recently shown her work at the Erie Antique Show and received many favorable comments on the lovely arrangements of copper bowls and platters and on the beautifully executed wall plaques and pictures.

Mrs. Akeley will show some of her copper at the YWCA Hobby Show October 17 and 18 and will be there in person to demonstrate some of her methods.

The program, in charge of Evelyn Williams and Mildred Way, was highlighted by an interesting presentation of the "Story of Creation". Following a social hour, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Grace Oviatt and Inez Nelson.

Next meeting will be held at 8:00 p. m. October 16 at the same place, with Evelyn Crull and Mildred Vicander as hostesses.

Beaty Junior High School News

Citizenship League presidential candidates started their campaign Monday by obtaining petitions and securing signatures of at least 2% of the school enrollment. Tuesday through Friday, they are sponsoring their own campaigns. On Friday, there will be an assembly program, first of the new term, in which all candidates will speak.

Qualifications for president are that the candidate must be in ninth grade, never had below a three in a major subject for his report card. While in Beaty, no person can be president twice, must have earned all his celluloid buttons for citizenship, and if defeated in the first-semester election, may run again in the second semester without circulating another petition.

Starting September 9 and continuing through Friday of this week, seventh, eighth and ninth graders are taking tests in math, English and social studies.

Student pictures will be taken in all three grades on Tuesday, October 7.

Beaty football games will start September 29, with Bradford coming here.

On September 26, homeroom programs will start with the election of officers.

Homemakers to Be Judged Individually, Not En Masse

"I'm sick and tired," writes a working wife, "of having the 'average' working wife compared with the 'average' stay-at-home housewife."

"Just who is this average representative of each group?"

"I know there are working wives who neglect their children, because they aren't good managers and planners."

"But looking around my neighborhood I can also see wives who don't earn a nickel neglecting their families for sorority meetings, club meetings, morning coffee klatches, afternoon bridge sessions and so on."

"Is a child more neglected because his mama is earning a pay check than because she is out playing bridge?"

"On the other hand I know plenty of working wives like myself who have the energy and the family cooperation and the know-how to combine a career with running a home. It can be done and a lot of women are doing it, thereby helping to pay for homes and send kids to college."

"I'll gladly admit, of course, that many full-time homemakers do an excellent job, too. But there just isn't any 'average' career housewife or stay-at-home housewife. There are only individuals."

"Some can be of most use by being full-time homemakers. Others can serve their families best by combining a job and homemaking. And some are going to be good homemakers and mothers whether they escape from their duties by taking on a job or by filling their days with outside activities for which they are paid nothing."

"So let's quit making comparisons. Let's just have a kind word for the woman whose home is happy and whose children are well cared for whether she works or doesn't work outside the home."

Warren Archery Club Brings to Close Fine Season

The Warren Archery Club held its final shoot of the 1958 season, Sunday, ending a delightful year for members.

A combination of a club championship shoot and an invitational shoot saw Bob Jackson taking top honors in Class A, shooting a fabulous score of 391. The Falconer Archery Club of New York won the invitational honors by compiling the highest total points for clubs, winning the $100 grand prize. Youngsville Archery Club showed fighting spirit for a new organization, but ended up last in club competition.

Individual awards were given to several archers, although Falconer and Chautauqua Lake carried the majority home.

Coldest Summer In 31 Years Says Area Observer

Autumn made its 1958 debut at 9:10 Tuesday amid a summer finale as glorious as it is rare. And, according to Jamestown Post Journal, Weather Bureau records compiled since 1927, this summer was the coldest in 31 years and the wettest since 1938.

Some other interesting notes about the past summer:

Second coldest June since 1927.

Fourth coldest September (so far) on record.

Three months with near-record heavy rainfall.

Only two 90-degree days and only 10 more above 85.

Twenty-five clear days, or 21 percent of maximum. There were 53 cloudy days. Since June 22, there have been only 45 rainless days.

Rainfall this summer totaled 20.82 inches, heaviest in 20 years and fourth heaviest on record. Average for the period is 14.5 inches.

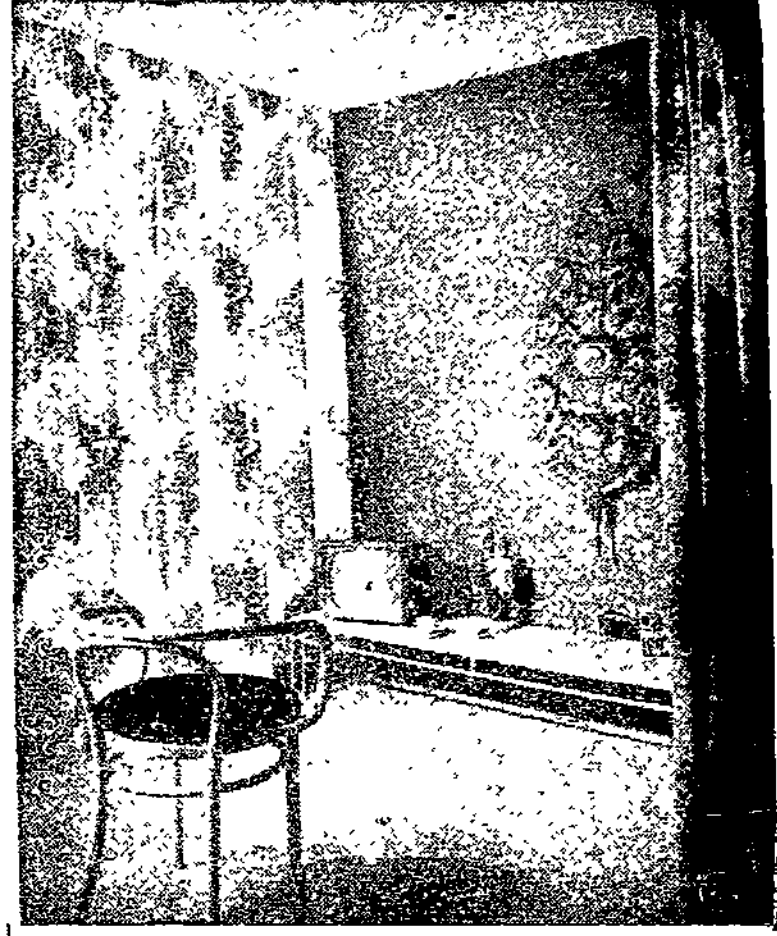

Twice the mercury plunged below 40, once as low as 36.

Forecast for today? Cloudy, rather windy, warm and humid with a few showers, high 78-87. Cloudy, windy with scattered showers or thundershowers tonight and Friday!

With the Candidates

McGONIGLE

MANHEIM, Pa. (AP) — Arthur T. McGonigle, Republican candidate for governor, took issue Wednesday with statements by Gov. George M. Leader that McGonigle appeared to rejoice openly at President Eisenhower's veto of the distressed areas bill.

In a swing through Lancaster County, McGonigle said such statements were "typical of the deceit and misinformation the Democratic candidates now find it necessary to employ."

Leader, seeking election to the U.S. Senate, made the charge at a political rally in Bedford.

Philadelphia Congressman Hugh Scott, Leader's GOP opponent for the Senate, was in Pittsburgh Wednesday.

He said Leader was ignorant of foreign affairs and knew nothing about federal taxes.

DEMOCRATIC

HARRISBURG (AP) — Joseph M. Barr, state Democratic chairman, said today that Republicans acted "through ignorance or confusion" in criticizing Gov. Leader's administration for lack of alcoholic rehabilitation.

Barr referred to a speech made this week by Arthur T. McGonigle, Republican candidate for governor.

"The Republican-dominated Legislature systematically killed off at the last session Gov. Leader's proposal for a center for the treatment of chronic alcoholics and narcotics addicts," he said in a statement, adding:

"Now McGonigle comes along with another campaign promise to set up alcoholic treatment centers with pious preachments about past neglect."

Barr charged, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, said the United States should lay the Quoer dispute immediately before the United Nations in order to reduce the danger of full-scale war in the Far East.

"Let the Warsaw talks continue, for whatever good they may do," Leader said in a speech prepared for the National Convention of the International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers at Philadelphia

"But let's not wait for the talks to break down before taking issue to the United Nations."

Genevieve Blatt, candidate for re-election as secretary of internal affairs, charged that the 1957 Legislature "cut and slashed without stopping to consider the effect" and crippled programs designed for the protection of their constituents.

Allegheny Lines Will Participate In "UN" Program

Allegheny Airlines has announced its participation in a nationwide program designed to marshal industry support for the United Nations. This program is sponsored by the United States Committee for the United Nations, a Committee of national organizations to "arouse interest in and disseminate information about the United Nations."

Marking Allegheny's participation in the program will be the placing during the next several weeks, of a United Nations emblem, with the initials "UN" above and the affirmation "We Believe" below, on the airlines' 23 ship fleet. The emblem will be conspicuously displayed on Allegheny's airplanes serving 50 cities in the Middle Atlantic area, including Washington, Pittsburgh, Detroit, New York, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Buffalo. Leaflets will be placed in seat pockets to explain the program to the passengers. Allegheny is presently the only domestic scheduled carrier participating in the program.

The United States Committee for the United Nations was organized in 1948 with the mission of increasing public understanding about the aims of the United Nations.

The idea of placing the United Nations emblem on aircraft of all nations was conceived by airline captain Charles Dent of Allentown, Pennsylvania, who has since devoted his off-duty hours to the program of the United States Committee to extend the idea beyond the airlines to all branches of industry and commerce.

Ligonier Begins To Get Excited Over Ike's Visit

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — They're excited in this southwestern Pennsylvania community. President Eisenhower is coming Friday.

He'll speak briefly at ceremonies marking the 200th anniversary at Ft. Ligonier, a colonial military post erected by the British. His talk will have no major political or foreign policy aspect, according to the White House.

Eisenhower will look over the restored fort, speak at the close of a half-hour mid-afternoon ceremony and then pay a brief visit to the home of Richard K. Mellon, who financed restoration of Ft. Ligonier.

The President plans to fly from Washington National Airport to Johnstown, Pa., and then drive 28 miles to Ligonier, which is about 40 miles east of Pittsburgh.

After his visit with Mellon, Eisenhower will return to Johnstown for a late afternoon flight back to Washington.

Committee Named To Investigate Pymatuning Lake

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Leader today appointed a special six-man committee to investigate a motor boating controversy at Pymatuning Reservoir, located on the Pennsylvania-Ohio line in Crawford county.

Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of Forests and Waters, was named chairman of the committee. Other members representing Pennsylvania on the interstate committee were Roger Latham, outdoor editor of the Pittsburgh Press, M. J. Golden, executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, and William Voigt, executive director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

Leader also asked Col. Herbert B. Eagen, director of Ohio Natural Resources, and Bryce

C. Browning, secretary-treasurer of the Muskegon Watershe conservancy, to represent Ohio

He asked the committee to study the situation and make recommendations to the next governor and general assembly. Residents in counties around the northern boundary of the reservoir have urged that boating horsepower limits be raised. Leader said, but other persons below Pymatuning Dam oppose the proposal.

The governor pointed out that he vetoed legislation to raise the permissible horsepower in 1957 and a previous administration vetoed similar legislation.

PERHAPS YOU'RE TIRED of color and patterns and ready for something simple, textured and quiet.

Well, there are plenty of fabrics around to answer this demand, too. Among the newest and most interesting from a maintenance point of view is the new aerocor glass fiber yarn. This new yarn woven with the filament glass yarns is seen in a number of textured fabrics.

There are also some with modern designs printed on them. Glass fiber draperies are practically as easy to care for as the sheer marquisettes, being washable and requiring no ironing.

The new shadow-striped shades in beige or white are coated with vinyl for wipe-down washability, a quality of special value in a kitchen or dinette.

Legal Action Continuing Against Salvation Army

Heirs with a residuary interest in the Henry Cobham Estate continued to hamstring Salvation Army attempts to settle the organization's bequest during a session of Orphans Court Wednesday afternoon.

Attorneys John Stewart and David Swanson, representing the Salvation Army, appeared with a petition requesting Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr. to release $110,000 of the trust fund for construction of a new building. It would face Market street adjacent to the rear of the present Army citadel on Pennsylvania avenue.

Attorneys Harold Hampson and C. Henry Nicholson, representing the Lawson and Sager family heirs respectively, questioned the validity of Salvation Army claims that the organization could provide a "refuge" for neglected children as provided in terms of the bequest.

The attorneys also questioned Salvation Army ability to maintain "agricultural classes" (another stipulation of the Cobham bequest) on the $750 interest which it was stated would accrue annually from the $15,000 left in the estate after $110,000 for building is deducted.

Judge Flick set Monday, Oct. 27 at 2 p. m. as the time at which he would hear "answers" to the Salvation Army request for release of the funds. He added that any testimony from others interested in the estate could also be heard at that time.

In his opening address to the Court, Attorney Stewart noted the changes that had occurred since Henry Cobham died in 1915, and that in view of the amount of money available it would be impossible under present conditions to provide a "refuge" or agricultural school of the type which may have been suggested in terms of the bequest.

However, he pointed out that a room in the proposed new building would be dedicated to Henry and Anna Cobham and that arrangements were under way with Warren County agricultural agent Bernard Wingert to provide the agricultural study facilities. Local Salvation Army Major James Diehl, in his testimony, pointed out that temporary "refuge" was given emergency cases of neglected children but that permanent dormitory space was not planned.

Harold Banghart, a member of Warren County Advisory Board for the Salvation Army, testified that in his opinion the proposed new structure with a central chapel and at least four "class" rooms would be the best thing that could now be done with the money under terms of the bequest.

gave his testimony about certain aspects of the trust fund and Brigadier Ed Gibson, divisional secretary and second in command of the Western Pennsylvania Salvation Army district, also spoke of the Salvation Army trust department and mentioned the most modern methods now employed by the Army for religious, recreation and craft training.

In his closing remarks, Judge Flick observed that the entire use of the new Salvation Army building could be expected if the agricultural education program brought that much interest.

A large delegation of Salvation Army personnel present in court showed obvious disappointment when another hearing was set on the matter Oct. 27. The matter has dragged through the courts for years.

Timely Reminder For Farmers on Use of Soil Bank

Farmers who put all of their eligible cropland in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank still will have certain "operating" rights on their farms, Chairman N. S. Dodd of the Warren County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee revealed today.

In the first place, the Chairman said, farmers who take advantage of the additional 10-percent payment for putting all their eligible land in the Reserve can continue to live on the farm.

While they cannot, of course, produce any Soil Bank base crops—generally, all grain and row crops, these farmers can grow a farm garden sufficiently large to take care of the family's needs.

If they are so set-up, Mr. Dodd added, there are several other things participating farmers can do on the farm. Among them, he listed: Use barns, other farm buildings, and feed lots; graze noncrop open pasture or range land that is not in the Conservation Reserve; manage already existing timber stands, fruit trees, vineyards, nursery stock, or net trees.

The Chairman urged all farm-

Hollywood News

AP Motion Picture Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—
If Frank Sinatra had his way, he'd revolutionize the working habits of the movie industry. For 50 years, the studios have operated the same as most businesses—from 9 in the morning until 6 at night. Sinatra is now doing his third film on a noon to 8 schedule, and he thinks it's the greatest. The picture is "Some Came Running," and Frank said it was over four days ahead of schedule.

"My system makes sense," he argued. "Most show people have learned to perform at their best in the afternoon and evening. Why should they be required to work in the morning just to follow the custom?

"This way, you can get a good sleep and start work refreshed. It's especially great for the girls, who can get up at 9 instead of 5 a.m. to start their makeup and hairdressing. We have a break for a meal at 4 and eat right on the set. Very often we'll finish much before 8 because we move so fast."
Does he have any trouble convincing the studios of his shooting method? "No, we just tell them that's how I like to work, and that's that."

Frank's next objective: a four-day shooting week.
That'll be the day! . . .
Vincent Price has done 80 TV shows, mostly quizzes, in the past three years and says no one has shipped him a fix yet. "It would have saved me a lot of trouble," he says. "I had to memorize an entire encyclopedia of art." The prequizz conversations are rehearsed, he admitted—"Otherwise you might have five minutes of silence."

The social whirl: June Allison lighted up her hilltop estate to celebrate hubby Dick Powell's start of a third season with the Zane Grey Theater on TV. They have a fabulous 50-acre place overlooking Mandeville Canyon complete with private lake. Says June: "I like it so much I don't want to leave to make a picture."

TV Commercials Festival Is Being Held in Venice

By EUGENE LEVIN

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Here in Venice there are no programs to interrupt the TV commercials.
One after another, 688 commercials from around the world are being shown in the week-long fifth International Festival of TV Advertising.
When the carnival is over Thursday, prizes will be given for the ones judged best by a 12-member international jury.

It's hard to tell which commercials are in the running for prizes, but one thing is clear: TV advertising is pretty much the same the world over.

Take an advertisement from Malaya Daddy comes home tired and hungry after a long day's work. But supper isn't ready. Will there be a family scene? Of course not. The family has just purchased a new gas stove to replace its old charcoal burner. It's cooking with gas—and dinner will be ready in a jiffy.

In Argentina, a pretty girl walks down the street with a dozen or so gay blades following her. Are they attracted by her beauty? Of course not. She's the lady of a certain brand of coffee and it's the coffee aroma that is attracting the men.

A tiny Danish man becomes something of a superhero because he eats a certain kind of luncheon meat.

The audience seems to love it all. The audience is largely the 800 delegates to the festival, and their families. They are experts in the business—and come from 25 nations.

Home Town Folks Pray for Boy in Children's Hospital

By ROBERT MARKOWITZ

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—What went on in the mind of 10-year-old Richard Garvin during those few minutes he clung to the phone became evident when the tears broke from his eyes.

He sat in his green and white striped pajamas. His parents were kneeling beside him, at the Children's Medical Center here, some 900 miles from his home town of Wagener, S.C. He listened while 600 people at the other end of the line in Wagener prayed for him to get well.

Richard is suffering from a condition which is causing both his liver and spleen to enlarge. Doctors are now trying to determine why.

The people of Wagener gathered once before when Mr. and Mrs. Fern Garvin were sacrificing everything they owned to pay for their son's medical expenses. Some $3,100 was collected that time.

added another $700. A special benefit show was held in Richard's honor—with a 10-minute telephone call to him as the high point. The call was piped in over a loud-speaker for all at the South Carolina end to hear.

Two ministers spoke to Richard, telling him that everyone at his home was there praying for him. He sat motionless.

Then someone asked him if there was anything he would like to say to the folks on the other end of the line.

"Yes, I would," he said. "I would like to thank you all for everything you all done for me." "I would like to thank you all," he repeated. "I appreciate it. And I do hope I can get better."

And on those words the tears streamed from his eyes.

Brokenstraw Joint Schools On Standard Time Monday

H. J. Sherwood, supervising principal of Brokenstraw Valley Joint Schools, announces all schools in that jointure will be operating on Eastern Standard Time, starting next Monday, September 25.

Meetings to be held at the school, involving adults, will continue to meet on Daylight Saving Time until the community in general returns to Standard Time. Home football games will also continue on the Daylight Time schedule.

Registration for adult education classes will be held Wednesday evening, October 4 from 6.30 to 9.30 p. m., DST, in the lobby of Youngsville High School building. All persons interested in registering for adult education classes will be considered to be registered upon payment of a $5.00 fee.

Inasmuch as there is no state reimbursement for adult education, it is necessary for local schools to charge this $5.00 fee to help defray expenses incurred by offering adult education. Persons who find it impossible to attend the registration on October 4 may register by sending their fee by some other person or by mailing it to the principal of Brokenstraw Valley Joint Schools, so that it is received before that date.

In order to offer courses in Art or Adult Driver Education, it is necessary that a minimum of nine people register. In all other courses that may be offered a minimum of 15 registrants will be required. It is necessary these minimums be strictly adhered to. Any course offered in the regular school program may be offered to adults if the minimum number of registrants is met. Courses offered in the past have been Driver Education, Art, Sewing, Shop, Typing, Shorthand and Bookkeeping. The classes will meet on Thursday evening, beginning October 16, and continuing through March 19.

The Youngsville High School Athletic Field will be formally dedicated Saturday, October 4, at 1.45 p. m., DST, a complete program for the dedication to appear next week. The committee in charge of arrangements for the dedication anticipates a large attendance, particularly in that the Eagles will meet Sheffield immediately following the program, 2.30 p. m.

Pennsylvania Outdoors...

Prepared by Pennsylvania Game Commission

Excel At Pistol Shooting

In the three pistol matches the Game Commission conducted this summer the agency's men of one Field Division pitted their shooting skill against brother officers in another. Haves T. Engert, the Commission's Assistant Chief of Law Enforcement, was range officer for the 38 caliber matches. The scores of the Game Protectors in all of the six Divisions have been totaled. Here are the results:

The President's Trophy (donor Commissioner John C. Herman for best 5-man team scores) was handsily taken by the Southeast Division. The trophy given by the Field Division Supervisors was won by the Northeast Division whose men compiled the highest average score. The Northwest and Northcentral Divisions ran a close second and third, in that order. The high individual score was fired by Game Protector George Miller of Manesville, Forest County, who avar was a suitably inscribed plaque. Four other officers — Ralph Shank, Dan McPeak, Edward Fasching and William Fulmer, in the order given—shot almost as well as did Miller. The lowest score of these four was but 11 points less than the champion's.

The 38 caliber revolver, the Game Protectors' official side-arm, is carried by the Wildlife officers while in the field. Fortunately it has seldom been necessary for any of these men to draw the weapon in the performance of their normal duties. The Commission encourages the field men to maintain shooting efficiency with either hand, however, as a preparedness measure against the rare occasion when human life may depend upon an accurate shot from the revolver.

Practice with the official side-arm is stressed over that with guns fired from the shoulder for the reason Game Protectors become proficient with the shot-gun and rifle in the performance of their normal field duties.

Deer License Sale

All county treasurers will have antlerless deer licenses on sale, as well as the applications for them, during the week beginning October 6. The Department of Revenue reports. The applications will not be available until the licenses go on sale. This license may be purchased only from the treasurer of the county in which the buyer will hunt deer without visible antlers during the December 15, 16 and 17 season. The cost is $1.15.

Farm occupants may hunt antlerless deer without a license during the three-day season on lands they reside upon, also on those immediately adjacent with the written consent of the owner or lessee. Under the law no application for an antlerless deer license shall be approved, or license issued, to a nonresident prior to November 15 or after December 14, 1958.

For the convenience of hunters, applications for antlerless deer licenses will be available, sometime in October, at the establishments of issuing agents other than county treasurers. At the Game Commission field division offices and the Commission office in Harrisburg. Applications may be obtained also from the miscellaneous license section of the Department of Revenue, Harrisburg.

Dine On Rattler—Once

Last month the student officers at the Game Commission school got some practical experience in connection with their reptile study. During a field trip to Elk County, on which the men learned about waterfowl impoundments the Commission has built their guide, Game Protector Leo Milford, killed a large rattlesnake. One of the trainees skinned the reptile. The flesh looked clean, so the group decided to "go all the way."

At the school the following day Chef Webb served the "delicacy" to satisfy the curiosity of the student officers. Afterward one of the trainees said, "Most of the men found the rattler meat somewhat agreeable to the taste. However, the effort of getting the first bite into the mouth discouraged future hunts for this kind of table meat."

Parasites and Rabbit Numbers

John Blair, a long-time Game Protector, tells about a "something" a Greensboro man brought to a Green County sportsmen's meeting last month. The sportsman had taken the repulsive-looking thing from an apparently sick rabbit. It was oval-shaped and about one inch long, three-fourths of an inch wide and half an inch thick. Blair identified it as a warble.

Later he said, "I have often seen this parasite on rabbits and am satisfied that warbles are part of the answer to the important question, 'What becomes of many of our rabbits between May and November?'"

Strange Bedfellows

A favorite roosting place for crows is Featherbed Hill, a few miles west of Doylestown, in Bucks County. This is a well-known rookery, and many hunters "work on" the crows there.

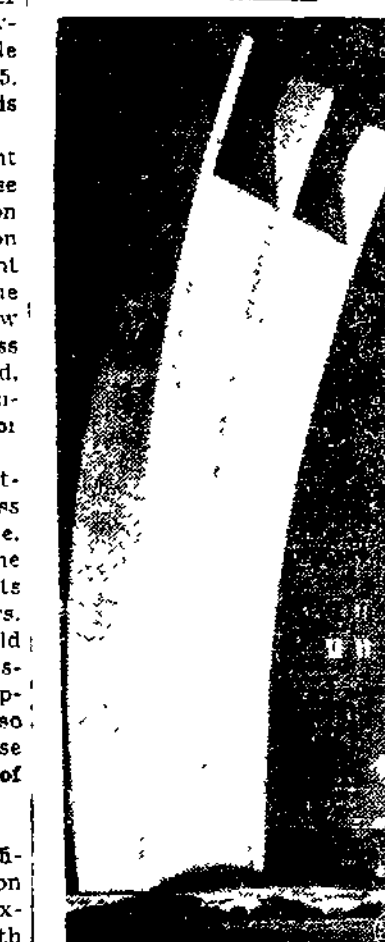

Where there is gunfire you are likely to find a Game Protector. William Lockett, one of the wildlife officers, reports that "During the month of August a few large white birds roosted with the crows. We first thought they were albino crows, but one evening we got close enough to identify the strangers as American egrets. Late in summer we occasionally see these beautiful visitors along our streams, but this is the first time they have been found sleeping with the black rascals. Apparently egrets are not particular about their bedfellows."

People Are Funny

Remarks by persons visiting the Game Commission exhibit at the Allegheny County Free Fair on Labor Day were sometimes amusing says Game Protector J. M. Maholtz. He quotes two:

"A wildcat! Don't want no part of this place—I've been married to one for 20 years."

"You know why I don't like snakes? Can't hear them walking."

LOFTY TRIBUTE—Curved like the end of a rainbow, the West Berlin Air Lift memorial is bathed in the glare of spotlights. It commemorates the giant air mission which supplied the city during the Russian blockade of 1948-49.

Develop Child's Sense of Hospitality

Encourage your child to extend hospitality to new classmates and to the newcomer to the neighborhood. Being hospitable is a gracious virtue in young and old and early emphasis on that quality is good practice for future homemakers.

Most youngsters don't need any urging to invite their best pals for play and snacks or supper, but not all are as enthusiastic about offering hospitality to a stranger.

It's usually up to mom to present the idea that hospitality is a responsibility and lots of fun. To point up the idea, let the meal or after-school snack be of extra-favorite foods; have suggestions ready, if needed, for things to do and play.

If food is involved have a special table set up just for juniors.

You've perhaps noted as have I that children, like adults, converse more readily and lose their shyness faster when they're gathered around a dinner table. For children, a table scaled to their size is preferable to the adult's table.

SO THAT YOU WON'T have to fuss or hover over the table too obviously, use pretty but sturdy tableware and set the table on a washable floor.

If you don't have a play table, a coffee table does very well. Plastic dinnerware with its break-resistant qualities has endeared itself to homemakers with active young children.

If you entertain the juniors often, a set of plastic in a youthful pattern will pay its way.

Sturdy children's furniture is matched by tableware. Melmac break-resistant plastic is used in plates, cups and saucers.

Melmac tableware, a high quality melamine plastic, possessing exceptional strength, is well-suited to this purpose and many companies are now producing it in gay colors and patterns.

Unbreakable serving pieces may be of metal or basketry. If you have a roomy kitchen, an indoor picnic set up on a cloth on the floor is another good party approach for the kids to have free-and-easy fun. YOU DON'T NEED to incur much expense or extra work helping a shy first-grader get acquainted in the neighborhood but a small investment in gadgety new action toy is sometimes justified. Those big plastic hoops, example, which are ringing over the block are fine ice-breakers; so are the giant balloon blues and the air pressure rocks.

Honored by Scouts

First Methodist church's Boy Scout Troop 9 held a delightful Tribute Dinner to honor its former Scoutmaster, Ray Lewis, pictured with Mrs. Lewis in this Timesphoto by Saylor.

The very pleasant event, recognizing 22 years of devoted service by Mr. Lewis, got under way at 6.30 p. m. in Founders Hall of the church. The honored ones were escorted to their places at the head table while assembled Scouts and parents sang "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow," R. Pierson Eaton playing the piano accompaniment.

David Smith, toastmaster and chairman of the troop committee, welcomed the Lewises, after which a delicious dinner was served at tables attractively decorated with fresh-cut flowers arranged by the decorating committee.

Comments were then heard from several seated at the speakers' table. Byron Knapp, Elmer Morgan, Clifford Betts, Ike Reed and Jim Blomquist paid tribute to Mr. Lewis. Dr. A. C. Schultz led group singing and George A. Johnson entertained with a piano narrative, describing his own experiences and other reminiscences of Scouting.

A tribute was given by Richard Ruhlman, Meadville, a former Scouter, who very ably expressed what was in the hearts of boys and adults alike. The troop committee then came forward and bodily lifted Mr. Lewis into a lounge chair purchased for him by the 200 boys he has served.

Jack Skinner, the new Scoutmaster, was presented a Scout shirt by the toastmaster, who expressed how fortunate the troop is to have the services of Mr. Skinner.

The meeting closed with a movie of the 1958 Boy Scout Jamboree and a closing song by Troop 9 boys.

Harriet Monroe, founder and editor of Poetry Magazine, sometimes is referred to as the patron saint of American poets.

Plans Announced for Annual Voice of Democracy Contest

A Voice of Democracy broadcast scriptwriting contest open to all 10th, 11th and 12th grade students will be held in Warren county during the next four weeks. To enter, eligible students should contact their high school principal.

Each contestant will write and deliver a three-to-five minute script on the theme, "I Speak for Democracy." Scripts should be in the style of broadcast commentaries.

The top winner in each school competes later in a country-wide contest. A tape-recording of the county-wide winner's script will be entered in a statewide competition and the statewide winner's script will compete in the national contest. State winners receive a free trip to Washington, D. C.

The top national prize is a $1,500 scholarship to any college the winner chooses. As part of the 50th anniversary observance of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, the university will award $500 journalism scholarships to each of this year's four national semi-finalists in the Voice of Democracy competition. The four semi-finalists also receive gold recordings of their scripts. The winner in each school and the county-wide winner receive Certificates of Merit.

The contest is sponsored by the National Association of Broadcasters, Electronic Industries Association, State Associations of Broadcasters, and local radio and television stations. The Veterans of Foreign Wars also is participating in the contest which is entering its 12th year throughout the United States.

The contest is endorsed by the United States Office of Education. The National Association of Secondary-School Principals (a department of the National Education Association) has placed the Voice of Democracy Contest on the Approved List of National Contest and Activities for 1958-59.

Only the United States and Brazil in the western hemisphere have a greater population than Mexico.

RADIO and TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—In a preview of "Harvey" last Monday I expressed some reservation over the wisdom of critics judging a TV show on the basis of a dress rehearsal before the public has seen the final version.

Herewith I withdraw that reservation. My reason for changing my mind is basically this: Everyone in the viewing audience with whom I've discussed the matter likes the idea of reading a critic's impressions before viewing an important TV show.

"You can't positively make up my mind as to whether a show is good or bad before I've seen it," said one man. "But you can give me something to think about before I see a show. If nothing else, you can make me think how foolish your judgment is."

The reason for bringing this case to public court is ironic. It appears that a majority of TV critics, both in and out of New York, don't like the idea. And it appears that their griping is in danger of causing the overly sensitive networks to ban further previews of live television shows.

It now seems probable that last Sunday's episode, in which the sponsor of the season's first "du Pont Show of the Month" invited critics to publish their opinions of a New York dress rehearsal of "Harvey," will be called a failure. Unless more people applaud this fine experiment, it's not likely to be repeated.

The basic reason why critics out of New York don't like previews seems to be that they feel the practice gives unfair advantage to critics in New York. I don't follow this. If their newspapers wish, they can ignore previews or publish the preview of a syndicated New York critic and follow it up with the local critics' reviews.

But the greatest irony of the preview pooh-bah is that the experiment may have been destroyed by an element of the New York TV critics—the female element. I knew positively that there was not a New York TV critical fraternity, but until last weekend I hadn't realized there was a sorority.

In general the girls attacked the idea of previews with batpins and etched their impressions in blood. Let's hope that sensitivity does not run so high at CBS that a complaint can destroy a significant innovation in television programming and reviewing.

Delegate Reports On AA Convention Held in Chicago

The annual meeting of the American Automobile Association held in Chicago last week was one of the most interesting and entertaining in the 56 years history of the organization, according to Homer B. Bowersox, who attended as a delegate from the Warren County Motor Club. Mr. Bowersox made the trip by plane, along with some side tours which he declares proved most delightful.

Most of the activities centered around the Palmer House and the building housing the AAA headquarters near the Illinois Central Railroad Station.

Sunday and Monday were devoted to registration of delegates, meetings of policy committees, and reception tendered by the Automobile Club of Michigan to delegates and guests in the grand ball room. The Tuesday program included the welcoming address from the Chicago Motor Club, welcome to Chicago, greetings from Canada, and a talk by Amos E. Neyhart, consultant on driver traffic education, Pennsylvania State University. Following the luncheon there was a talk by Russell E. Singer, executive vice president, a panel discussion on "Major Issues Facing Motor Clubs Today," with Paul R. Ginger, of Columbus, as moderator. Participants were from Alberta, San Francisco, New Haven and Lexington.

At the business session Wednesday with Frederick T. McGuire, Jr., presiding, reports were received, followed by a discussion on voting on policies and resolutions by the delegates. The election of AAA delegates and report of nominating committee were also received. Following election of AAA officers the delegates' session adjourned.

George W. Romney, president and chairman of the board of American Motors Corp. was the luncheon speaker.

The annual meeting of the board with election of members of the executive committee was held on Wednesday afternoon, followed by the annual banquet in the grand ballroom in the evening, with J. J. Cavannah, president of the Chicago Motor Club as toastmaster. The last business of the convention was the meeting of the AAA executive committee at 9:30 Thursday morning.

Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Does your pocketbook have that lean and hungry look?

If so, you'll be glad to learn that many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores will feature chuck roast — the housewife's budget standby — this weekend. Some are backing it up with offerings of other low priced cuts such as rump roast, plate boiling beef and smoked beef tongue.

This week's emphasis on bargain beef is expected to be only temporary, however, as government experts look for ample amounts of high-grade beef this fall but lessened supplies of the lower grades. Although the 1958 total is expected to run about 5 per cent less than 1957, October supplies will be seasonally large. Large marketings of fed cattle will combine with shipments of grass-fed animals.

Fryers and pork loins, two more items that lean more toward economy than luxury, also are due to top billing in some places. Smelts and flounder are featured in fish-eating areas.

Egg prices are down 2 to 3 cents a dozen over wide areas, although some higher prices are reported, too. Small eggs are the best buy at this time of year because of heavy production as young hens start to produce.

The outlook for early fall vegetables is for considerable increases over last year in cabbage and carrots, with smaller increases for tomatoes and cauliflower. Lettuce, celery, cucumbers and snap beans will be down, on the other hand.

For this week best bets are beets, cabbage, celery, sweet corn, onions, potatoes, peppers and the Romaine and big Boston varieties of lettuce.

Senator Kennedy Favorite Topic Among Governors

By RELMAN MORIN

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Judging from what they're saying about Sen. John Kennedy at the Southern Governors Conference today, you would think he was Dixie-born, a descendant of Robert E. Lee, and a man who eats hominy grits and corn pone three times a day.

Kennedy, a Yankee from Massachusetts, is that popular in the South, so they say.

In any discussion of the Democratic presidential nominee in 1960, Kennedy's name leads the field by a wide margin here.

"The South likes Kennedy," said Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia.

"He's got a lot of friends down our way," said Mississippi's James P. Coleman.

"I find more favor for Kennedy than any other one person," said Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida. "Basically, Florida Democrats feel he's a good prospect to win, he's sound, and he has the qualifications."

What about the religious factor? Kennedy is a Roman Catholic. Would this cost him votes in the heavily Protestant Southern states?

Southerners reply with a vigorous "No."

They say religious feeling has evaporated in the South to a point where it is no longer a major political consideration.

"I'll put it this way," said Tennessee's Frank Clement, "I hope that no member of my own family would vote against a man because of his religion, be he Catholic, Protestant or Jewish."

Kennedy has been working hard in the Southern states for more than a year. He has traveled continually, accepted innumerable invitations to speak. He seems to have made a highly favorable impression.

Rebel Leader

ore I am certain they will go on."

Karami, a former rebel leader and an admirer of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, was named chief of Lebanon's new eight-man Cabinet Wednesday night.

The city remained under a day and night curfew to prevent a new flareup of Wednesday's fighting between extremist elements, in which 19 persons were killed. All shops were closed today and streets deserted except for essential personnel.

Karami takes over the job vacated by Sami Solh, a pro-Western Moslem who was twice the target of assassins during the 4½-month revolt in this half Moslem, half-Christian land against the administration of President Camille Chamoun.

Solh is now in Turkey. Chamoun has retired to his summer home at a Christian village near Beirut. Like Chehab, Karami wants the remaining 9,500 American troops based in Lebanon to get out. He has suggested Oct. 15 for the final withdrawal.

The dark, slightly built Karami, a Moslem, told a news conference recently he favors federation of Lebanon with President Nasser's United Arab Republic—"if all Lebanese agree."

Karami smiled when asked his opinion of Nasser.

"I consider him a superman," he said.

Karami was premier once before — from April to November 1955.

He led the rebellion in Tripoli, in north Lebanon, where he has a big following. Nevertheless, he is considered a moderate.

Within the Cabinet, Karami kept for himself the defense and interior ministries. This gives him control of Lebanon's armed forces and police.

The other jobs went to three deputies who spearheaded the fight in Parliament against Chamoun and to four men considered neutrals.

Wednesday's bloodshed developed when Moslem crowds poured out of the Basta quarter to celebrate the inauguration of Chehab, a compromise candidate who is a Christian with a Moslem background in his family.

The Phalangists, a Christian organization that backed Chamoun, fired on the crowds. The Moslems quickly mustered a fighting force and returned the fire. In addition to the dead, dozens were wounded.

Nationalists

the danger of touching off a nuclear war.

The estimate became known as the gloom pervading the Formosa Strait crisis for a month appeared to be lifting somewhat.

Here were some of the hopeful signs, although officials freely conceded that the crisis was far from over and that Red China could upset the situation by a reckless act:

1. The Nationalist government on Formosa announced the Red blockade of the offshore Quemoy was broken. U.S. officials were not quite that enthusiastic. They said Quemoy needs 400 tons of supplies a day and not that much is yet getting through the artillery-raked beaches. Still, the drain on Quemoy's well-stocked reserves was lessened. So was the Nationalist pressure to attack the mainland-based guns which imposed the blockade.

2. The Nationalists claimed 32 of their jets, without losses, shot down 10 and possibly six more out of 100 Communist jets in aerial combat over the strait. This was hailed as another demonstration of Nationalist air superiority.

3. With the United Nations having postponed for another year any action on sealing Red China, there was hope Red China might now ease up on its troublemaking in the strait. This hope was founded on belief that Peiping's new threats to Quemoy were designed, in major part at least, to grab attention for its U.N. bid.

The U.S.-Red China ambassadorial talks at Warsaw, meanwhile, were scheduled to go into their fourth session today. Ambassadors Jacob Beam and Wang Ping-nan seemed no closer to agreement on safeguarding Far East peace. Beam was reported still demanding a cease-fire, with Wang holding out for complete U.S. withdrawal from the Formosa area.

Pentagon figures on relative Nationalist and Communist Chinese military strength in the embattled area showed a balance that just about added up to an impasse.

They included about 80,000 Nationalist soldiers dug in on the seemingly impregnable defenses on Quemoy, and about 85,000 Red soldiers and fairly ineffectual naval forces in the area facing Quemoy. It is a military axiom that any attacking force, especially over water, should outnumber the defenders by two or three to one.

Duquesne Captures Award in Brussels

PITTSBURGH — The Duquesne Brewing Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, has received the highest award for quality beers presented at the Brussels World Fair.

Official notification of the Gold Medal Award came to John A. Friday, Jr., President of the Duquesne Brewing Company today in the form of the following telegram:

"It is our pleasure to inform Duquesne Brewing Company is winner of the Gold Medal Highest Award for Quality at Congress Gaborius Beer Tasting under auspices of Exposition Universelle De Bruxelles World Fair, 1958. Sincere congratulations to winner highest possible award. (Signed Francoise Sermus, General Secretary.)"

The Duquesne Brewing Company markets two premium beers sold under the name of Duquesne Pilsener and Silver Top.

Mr. Friday said, "Duquesne beers have received many awards for quality during the company's 59 year history. However, this internationally recognized award from the Brussels Worlds Fair is the highest honor that any brewery can receive and we are certainly proud of this recognition which reflects not only on our company but on the Pittsburgh area."

The Duquesne Brewing Company last year sold more than 1,060,000 barrels of beer leading all Western Pennsylvania breweries in sales by a substantial margin.

Warren Beverage Company is local distributor for Duquesne.

MERCER MAN CRUSHED

GREENVILLE, Pa. — George J. Stepanoff, 21, of Sandy Creek Twp., was crushed to death Wednesday night by a house trailer.

The coroner's office said the trailer fell on Stepanoff when a jack slipped. The tragedy occurred at the farm of Edward Osborne, 10 miles east of Greenville. Stepanoff had made his home with Osborne the past 10 years.

Consumer Prices In Pennsylvania Show an Increase

Consumer prices in Pennsylvania cities advanced 0.5 per cent between April and July 1956 to once again establish a new record high as the cost of living index climbed to 122.9 of the 1947-49 base period, Secretary of Labor and Industry, William L. Batt, Jr. has announced. Percentage-wise, Pennsylvania's quarterly (April-July) increase was a little higher than the 0.3 per cent increase recorded by the nation as a whole. However, comparison of the July 1956 results with that of a year ago indicate that apparently the moderate income family in Pennsylvania fared a little better than the same family unit in the United States. During the past year the Commonwealth's index rose 2.5 per cent compared to a 2.6 per cent rise in the national index. The April to July 1956 increase in the state was due chiefly to higher charges for medical care and transportation which were somewhat offset by slight reductions in the housing, apparel, and reading and recreation categories.

Pennsylvania's Food Index at 122.1 as of July 15, 1956 represented an increase of 0.6 per cent since April 15 of this year and a 3.4 per cent increase since July a year ago! Between April and July of this year higher prices asked for virtually all cuts of meat were able to offset significant seasonal declines in the prices of many vegetables. For example, in thirteen Pennsylvania cities average prices of pork chops were up 5.3 cents per pound, bacon 3.4 cents per pound, all cuts of beef were 3 cents per pound higher, veal prices rose 2.5 cents per pound, and leg of lamb 2 cents. Egg prices declined about 3 cents a dozen during the same quarter. In addition, among the vegetables, price reductions were 20.5 cents per pound for tomatoes, 24.5 cents per 15 pound bag for potatoes, 9 cents per pound for green beans, 4.5 cents per pound for cabbage, and 4 cents per head for lettuce. The world-wide glut in green coffee was reflected somewhat in the 3 cents per pound reduction in the price of this beverage in Pennsylvania.

The composite housing index for Pennsylvania at 123.4 as of July 15 of this year declined 0.1 per cent since April, but it was 1.7 per cent higher than July of a year ago. Nationally, the housing index rose 1.8 cent during the past year, but it registered no change between April and July of 1956.

In Pennsylvania during the past quarter among the components that make up the housing index, the Solid Fuels and Fuel Oil, Gas and Electricity, and Housefurnishings categories registered decreases of 6.0 per cent, 0.1 per cent, and 0.6 per cent, respectively. Seasonally lower prices for coal and fuel oil in most Pennsylvania cities and scattered reductions in the prices of some household appliances and equipment accounted for the decrease in these indices.

Diana said she then waited for her mother.
"She drove up in her car and came up the walk," she said. "I saw then that there was no way that I could shoot mother without her seeing me. . . . So I yelled at her not to come in the house, that I didn't want her to see Robert. I started crying and told mother that I had shot Robert and that I was going to shoot us all but I couldn't shoot her."

Mrs. Humphries entered the house, found Robert on the floor, and called police, her husband, R. D. Humphries, a retired Navy seaman, and the family pastor.

Diana stayed home from school Tuesday because of an upset stomach.

"It seemed that everyone was always tired; that we were always getting up, going to work and school, coming home, eating, cooking meals, washing dishes, and going to bed and getting up again," she said.

"I lay in bed and planned how I was going to kill us all," she added. "I wanted to kill everyone quick so that we wouldn't have to suffer any more. I wasn't mad at anybody. I don't know why I did it."

a swampy area when he was suddenly surrounded by police, photographers and hundreds of curious residents.

This went on for several hours and the big-antlered moose couldn't take it. He thundered across main streets and through back yards. Finally a steel fence was in his way. He charged full tilt. The fence didn't budge and the moose was all shook up. He surrendered meekly to a veterinarian, who gave him what he needed—a tranquilizer.

Last heard from, the mixed up moose was living it up on a pink cloud—but behind the bars of the state game farm.

At Duluth, Minn., a honey-loving bear came to grief near the home of a beekeeper whose hives had lured the animal into a residential district.

Residents spotted the bear several times, opened fire, but had no luck. As darkness came, somebody decided to string a line of light bulbs from a garage to a field. Lookouts were posted. When the bear appeared, the lights went up, some shots rang out, and it was curtains for the bear.

hit the white boys with cleated athletic shoes and kicked one when he fell.

The fight in Chicago brought minor injuries to one white and one Negro boy. It was apparently the aftermath of an argument between a white girl and a Negro girl, police reported.

At Atlanta, two federal judges promised an early hearing on a suit by 28 Negroes to end segregation in the public schools.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A federal judge today takes up the crucial question of whether Little Rock schools can legally be operated on a private segregated basis.

U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller, sitting at Fort Smith, Ark., also will hear arguments on an effort by the federal government and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to block the private school plan.

The Little Rock School Board wants Judge Miller to decide whether the board would be in contempt of federal court if it leased Little Rock's four closed-down high schools to a private corporation, as Gov. Orval E. Faubus has proposed.

The board is under federal court orders to integrate.

Reuther turns the pressure of his presence to the GM talks after a futile marathon meeting with Chrysler negotiators.

He came out of an all-night meeting at dawn yesterday and said Chrysler and the union were too far apart on too many issues to warrant continuing the session.

Chrysler President L. L. Colbert later sent a letter to each UAW employee of the company urging acceptance of Chrysler's offer as a fair one.

Chrysler and UAW negotiating teams that have been working on a settlement the past six months will take up where Reuther left off.

Bodies of Airmen Killed In Armenia Returned

KARS, Turkey (U)—The bodies of six U. S. airmen killed in a crash in Soviet Armenia Sept. 2 are back in American hands. The Soviets surrendered them at the Soviet-Turkish border Wednesday. The fate of 11 other crewmen remained a mystery.

The full story of the final flight of the C130 turboprop transport and the explosion and fire that destroyed it remained to be told.

The Soviets have protested that the transport "intentionally violated the Soviet border." The U. S. State Department said Soviet MIGs had jumped the plane near this provincial capital, 20 miles inside Turkey, and forced it across the border, though it did not accuse them of shooting it down.

There was no immediate identification of the six dead.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q—I understand there is a new law that allows a helpless widower of a woman veteran to receive VA benefits based on the death of his wife. What are the main provisions?

A—The new law states that the widower of a woman veteran who has not remarried may receive VA death benefits if he is incapable of self-maintenance and, at the time of his wife's death, was permanently incapable of self-support because of physical or mental disability.

Q—The new $10-per-thousand of insurance disability coverage, for GI insurance policy-holders, sounds like a good idea to me. I already have coverage under the old $5-per-thousand-of-insurance plan, and have been wondering what the new income provision would cost. Would it be twice as much as the old?

A—No. Your additional payment for the new increased coverage would be very small. Any VA office will give you exact figures for the extra payment for your policy.

Q—I dropped out of school fourteen months ago, when things really got tough for me, money-wise, and meanwhile my cut-off date has passed. I understand there's been a change in VA's regulations, so that I can now go back to my GI schooling. Is there anything special I am supposed to do?

A—If you do not already have one, you should soon be receiving a special application form from VA. You will be required to fill this form out, sign and return it. VA will send you a certification authorizing you to return to school.

Q—Can a veteran who is going to school under the GI Bill also get a GI loan with which to build a house?

A—Yes, provided, of course, that your lender will make the loan. Nothing in the law prohibits simultaneous receipt of the two benefits.

McKeesport Bank Files Suit To Recover Loan

PITTSBURGH (U)—The Peoples Union Bank & Trust Co. of McKeesport filed suit Wednesday in Allegheny County Court to recover $200,000 it loaned to the Eastern Investment and Development Corp.

Named defendants in the suit are Mr. and Mrs. Burton Talenfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Murry Talenfeld and Edward Talenfeld. The Talenfeld men were former directors of Eastern.

The bank charged that they gave misleading statements on the firm's financial status, leading the bank to make the loan.

Eastern was found to be in financial difficulty after erstwhile financier Earl Belle went to South America in July.

Committee on Water Vehicle Safety Busy

HARRISBURG (U)—Subcommittees of Gov. Leader's Advisory Committee on Water Vehicle Safety today began studies of various aspects of the committee's program.

The groups were named Wednesday during the committee's organizational meeting. Chairman Harry H. Brainerd of Pittsburgh, executive manager of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, said the study groups would report back to the committee in 60 to 90 days.

Leader assigned the committee the task of developing a stronger and more enforceable program for making the state's waterways safer for motorboating, fishing and swimming.

Wife of Gov. Williams Suffers Rare Ailment

LANSING, Mich. (U)—Nancy Williams, wife of Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, is hospitalized with a comparatively rare ailment which has affected her legs, causing great pain and difficulty in walking. Her physician, Dr. Kenneth H. Johnson, said the complaint usually appears as an after-effect of a virus infection, and rarely causes any permanent damage.

Mrs. Williams is 43. She has been hospitalized since Sept. 6, but the ailment was not completely diagnosed until Wednesday. Dr. Johnson repeatedly has denied rumors Mrs. Williams had contracted polio.

Dr. Johnson said the technical name for the complaint is Guillain-Barre syndrome.

Masons From 15 States Honored at Ceremonies

PITTSBURGH (U)—The Scottish Rite of Freemasonry for the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction of the United States Wednesday night conferred its highest honor—the 33rd degree—on 181 members from 15 states.

Their elevation in colorful, secret ceremonies climaxed the 146th annual meeting of the group's Supreme Council, 33rd degree.

The honor is so exclusive that only 2,600 of 478,000 Scottish Rite Masons in the 15 states have received the 33rd degree.

Another class of nominees will receive the 33rd Degree at the 1959 annual meeting in Buffalo, N. Y.

Silo Containing 300 Tons Falls at Cranbrook Farms

Officials of the State Hospital Cranbrook Farms are trying to find ways and means of salvaging approximately 300 tons of ensilage contained in a large silo which started to buckle Wednesday afternoon and finally collapsed completely Wednesday night about nine o'clock.

According to Otto Beary, assistant herdsman, the silo was filled during the spring period with grass and recently the corn harvest was added. Wednesday it was observed that it was giving way under the mammoth tonnage and before it collapsed last evening farm officials had taken every precaution to avoid accidents to personnel or stock. In spite of their efforts the silo damaged part of the large dairy barn.

Constructed of steel about eight years ago the silo was about 45 feet high and 18 feet in circumference.

The Cranbrook herd consists of 100 cows at the present time.

Fire at Havana Airport Is Being Investigated

HAVANA (U)—Authorities today were trying to find out what caused a fire which destroyed the main administration building of Havana's International Jose Marti Airport.

They refused to say whether sabotage was suspected. Informants suggested the fire broke out accidentally Wednesday in containers of movie film stored in a warehouse.

Damage was estimated at two million dollars. Three persons were slightly injured. An RKO movie company was shooting on the second floor.

Industrial sales of the gas utility industry climbed 4.6 percent to 40,476 million therms in 1957, even though the nation's industrial activity remained at the previous year's level. Since 1940, industrial gas sales have quadrupled while the industrial pace has only doubled.

A.P. Sports Editor Makes Weekly Football Forecast

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — They are painting the ceiling in the office and that odor you complain about is turpentine. The stench has absolutely nothing to do with the fact that 16 of 38 guesses last week, in the season debut, were incorrect.

This week's forecast:

Ohio State over Southern Methodist: The bruising Buckeyes have Don Clark and Bob White plus a rugged line. SMU has Don Meredith and some strong ambitions. It could be close if Ohio State is thinking only of Big Ten problems.

Oklahoma over West Virginia: The Mountaineers collared Richmond by 41 points last week. This time they find out how it feels to lose.

Auburn over Tennessee: Auburn, the country's No. 1 team last fall, isn't abdicating. Graduation took a heavy toll of Tennessee Veterans.

Michigan over Southern California: Things, supposedly aren't as good at Michigan as they once were, but there should be enough left to handle the Trojans.

Iowa over Texas Christian: Strictly on a hunch.

Army over South Carolina: Army is having quarterback woes but how can you lose when Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson are healthy?

Washington State over Northwestern: The Cougars may be the best on the West Coast.

Navy over William & Mary: The Midshipmen's rebuilding project gets a solid test.

Oregon State over Kansas: The Jayhawks get another sound thrashing.

Wisconsin over Miami: The margin may be as thin as a palm leaf fan. It is a Friday night encounter.

Notre Dame over Indiana: No danger to the Irish in this one. Skipping over the others in a hurry:

FRIDAY
Detroit over Air Force, Georgia Tech over Florida State, Texas over Tulane, Denver over Utah State.

SATURDAY
EAST: Columbia over Brown, Cornell over Colgate, Dartmouth over Lafayette, Harvard over Buffalo, Delaware over Lehigh, Boston University over Massachusetts, Penn State over Penn, Princeton over Rutgers, Syracuse over Boston College, Virginia Military over Villanova, Yale over Connecticut, Pittsburgh over Holy Cross.

MIDWEST: Cincinnati over Wichita, Colorado over Kansas State, Dayton over Richmond, Drake over Colorado State U, Illinois over UCLA, Missouri over Idaho, Michigan State over California, Ohio University over Toledo, Oklahoma State over North Texas State, Purdue over Nebraska, Minnesota over Washington.

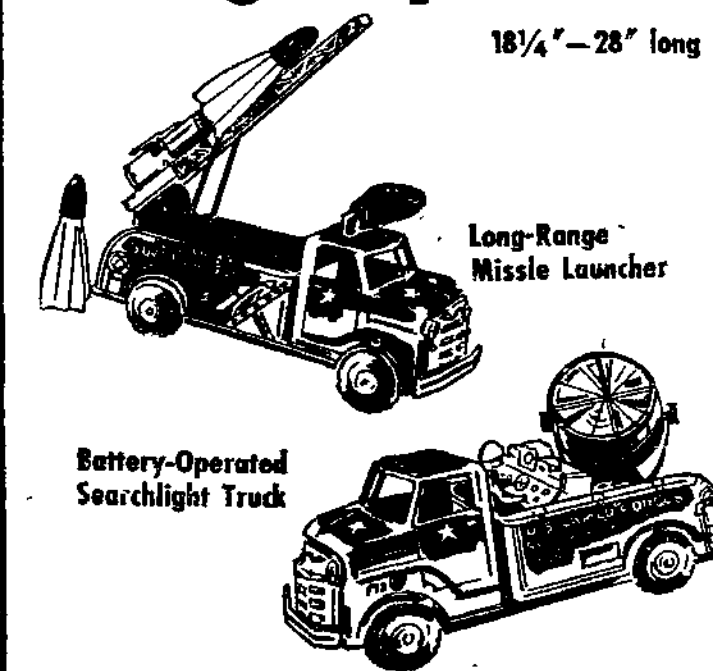

SOUTH: Mississippi over Kentucky, Mississippi State over Florida, LSU over Alabama, The Citadel over George Washington, North Carolina over Clemson, Vanderbilt over Georgia, Wake Forest over Virginia Tech, Duke over Virginia, Maryland over North Carolina State.

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas over Tulsa, Baylor over Hardin Simmons, Houston over Texas A&M, Texas Tech over West Texas State, Texas Western over New Mexico.

FAR WEST: Iowa State over Arizona, Brigham Young over Utah, Rice over Stanford, Wyoming over Montana, Idaho State over Nevada, Arizona State over College of Pacific.

Four States Take Brunt of Year's Polio Outbreaks

By JOHN A. BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Four states—Michigan, Texas, Florida and California—are taking the brunt of this season's polio attack, and late reports indicate that Detroit may be the hardest hit city.

However, over-all, the United States may be experiencing a record low year for the post-Salk vaccine period.

The nation showed 2,223 cases for the 35 weeks ended Aug. 30. This compares with 3,879 cases for the same period last year and 13,711 for the average period of the year and 13,711 for the average period of the years 1953-57.

But 40 per cent of the cases fell on four states. Texas had 297, Michigan had 292. Florida had 160 and California had 146 for 35-week totals.

And later figures from the National Foundation's Wayne (Detroit) County chapter showed the case load had jumped a 356—more than the whole state of Michigan reported 11 days before.

Other high states according to U. S. Public Health Service totals were: New York 111, New Jersey 110 and Ohio 94.

In another report on this year's polio, the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. said: "The only adverse development so far this year is the excess in the number of paralytic over nonparalytic cases, a reversal of the situation in 1957."

There have been several outbreaks of polio across the nation. Another city reporting a sizeable number was Miami, Fla. National Foundation spokesmen said there were a reported 66 cases in Dade County.

The reason polio still afflicts so many in the nation is because so many people have failed to get their Salk vaccine shots, the National Foundation says.

It is urging vaccination for everyone under 40, and one estimate is that 44 million persons between 20 and 39 years of age are without any polio protection.

Under 20, the most vulnerable period, the picture is different, but not as good as it should be, the foundation says. Here's the way it looks.

Of those under 20, 66 per cent have all three doses of the Salk vaccine; 9 per cent have two doses and 2 per cent have only one dose. That means 23 per cent of the nation's teenagers and children have no polio protection.

The outbreak in Detroit, where the National Foundation has sent five additional iron lungs, can happen elsewhere, foundation spokesmen say, because there are so many unprotected persons in the vulnerable age groups.

Dragons Sharpen Up for Rocket Game on Saturday

Warren High eleven took to the practice field the past week, working on scrimmages and harping on blocking and tackling in preparation for another Section II District 10 encounter Saturday when they travel to Titusville for a conference game.

Coach Ralph Veights reported to Times-Mirror that Bob Iaslet, left half, possibly will be starting for Dragons as his knee injury is coming around satisfactorily. As remainder of team is concerned, all in physical strength.

"If we can come back after Saturday, we'll be going OK again," Veights commented. Last weekend, Warren was on the bitter end of an upset by Franklin. "Titusville has been beaten twice," Ralph recalled.

"But there's a potential there that can give someone a rough time. They can't be taken too lightly," he warns. Summing it up, the Dragon mentor says: "It'll be a good game."

Coach Chal Port of Titusville has been juggling with more moves "than a checker player" in order to fill slots left vacant by graduation. "And I'm still doing it," he notes.

Among the changes was Joel Beason, who Veights has pointed out as a tough man Saturday, from end to tackle; Jim Schwab, former back moved to guard. Letterman Jack Fisher worked as tackle last season, seems to be centering for the Rockets this year. Tom Taylor, another veteran, was transferred to tackle from center. Dick Platt, guard last season, became a left halfback for the current campaign.

Of course the backfield holds another dangerous man, George Dewey. George is the only letterman in the backfield.

Rocket has a light line, averaging 162, and light backfield, averaging 160. A young squad, 41 of the 53 members are underclassmen.

A relief for Warren is the fact that the dangerous back, Dewey, is suffering a leg injury and will not play Saturday. Frey is victim of a very unfortunate accident in that he broke his arm in a practice session Tuesday evening. Platt will not be playing Saturday, either, suffering from a leg injury.

As for a probable starting line for the Rockets, Coach Porter said he was unable to even guess as he is in the juggling process again to fill the three important vacant slots. Possible starters will be available Friday to Times-Mirror.

Port will have only 7 lettermen against Veights' 11. But as the Rocket head said, "We're young, small and aggressive, I hope. Warren is bigger and better—but we'll battle them down to the wire."

Game time is 1:30 at Titusville.

Youngsville and Northern Area "Game of the Week"

On County Class B football menu this weekend, Youngsville-Northern Area classic may be termed "game of the week" with the great rivalry that exists between the two clubs. Sheffield, of course, can't be omitted from the "Warren County Class B League" as the Wolverines figure into this triangular competition heavily each year. The "League" began play last Saturday as Northern Area traveled to Sheffield, tilting the Wolverines 26-21.

Bradford Baby Owls Take JV's By 26 to 7 Score

After an Owl touchdown in the third, Warren received the opening kickoff on their 38 and gained two yards on the play. On the first play of the final period, Hultman shook loose and went 60 yards for the score. He also added the extra point.

Panthers Looking For a Toughie in Holy Cross Game

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Coach Johnny Michelosen's Pitt Panthers made an auspicious 27-6 debut against UCLA last week with their new winged-T offense. Can the Panthers do it again Saturday against Holy Cross?

"We made a lot of little mistakes against UCLA," said Michelosen in an interview, "but we can't make the same boners against Holy Cross. It is a big team with plenty of big tackles and big ends."

"Don't forget Holy Cross also has one of the best passers in college football in Tom Greene. He also can run, kick and punt. He does a lot of throwing."

"That's one thing we've got to brush up on—our pass defense. It hasn't been too good. Greene throws long passes and he's fared pretty well percentage-wise."

Greene was one of the top passers in the country last year, finishing fifth in total offense only 53 yards short of the national leader.

The Panthers, ranked seventh in the nation, consider the crusaders a great multiple-T team.

Ace Lightweight Leaving Amateur Ranks Saturday

JOHNNY BIZZARO

Erle Ace Lightweight
Johnny Bizzaro is leaving amateur ranks Saturday.

His scheduled bout with tougher Lamar Adams in Gannon Auditorium on a 10-bout card sponsored by PAL, will be his last before he enters professional competition in Erle next month on a proposed pro card.

The good-looking 135-pounder holds a 25 win three loss record.

Johnny, member of Mike Brady's stable, has been working out every night at PALS gym, 12th and Peach, losing much of his wildness. Brady said the clever fighter has impressed him with his recent showings in sparring.

"Johnny's one big fault was his wildness but he has settled down a great deal and by fight time he should be the sharpest of his career."

Matchmaker Don Elbaum, hearing of the cute lightweight's plans to turn pro, said, "If he is ready to turn professional then he should be able to handle Adams. The fight game is a lot tougher in the money field than when you fight for trophies and Adams is going to be one good test."

Adams, though no puncher, is one of the slickest boxers in the game, winning 17 out of 20.

Warren's Golden Glove son, Tom Gerarde, has been added to the card. He will battle a New Castle tough boy, Jimmy Hartzell.

Johnny's younger brother, Paul, will be making his fist debut on the card. Paul will battle Casper Pope.

Other bouts:
Vinnie DiNicoal vs. Jim Berdis; Bobby Sandella vs. Pat Roamer; Alvin Connors vs. B. J. Thompson; Larry Bortnick vs. Rich Benson; and Perry Keys vs. James Ralston.

Sagging Yankee Pitching Staff on the Braves Side; But Recall Mantle Facts

By JIMMY BRESLIN
Opening line makes the Yankees 6½-7½ favorites in the World Series and on Broadway you are told. "It will change because there are a lot of guys who like the Braves very big."

Baseball people, bettors, fans all seem to agree. It is becoming a common notion that Milwaukee will again beat New York. Lew Burdette, they point out, gave the Yankees two runs in 27 innings last year. Warren Spahn is as sound as he ever was. There are Henry Aaron and Eddie Mathews and the rest.

Yankees are dismissed because of their pitching. Grim tales have been offered about the sagging crew of pitchers Casey Stengel has had to go with since the All-Star game.

Which is fine and undoubtedly makes sense, but for anybody with money for Sudsville certain facts should be remembered.

The pitch Russ Meyer threw to Mickey Mantle in 1953, for one. The bases were loaded and Mantle was batting left-handed. He hit the ball so far into the upper left-center field stands it was difficult to believe. The shot was the difference in the game.

The stumbling, gimping Mantle of 1955, for another. The Dodgers won their only Series this time and Mantle got in only three games. Last year, able to sing only from one side of the plate and in pain every time he did, Mantle was no help to the Yankees.

The records show Mantle has been hurt in three World Series. The Yankees lost two of them. And in the other—1951 against the Giants—it really didn't matter because Joe DiMaggio was in center field and when Joe D was around the other side could get hurt.

Forget the Jacklustre year Mantle has had this trip. If you bet Milwaukee, you are going against Mantle. Going against him in a short series, too, the kind of setup where one or two good swings can change it all.

The bulk of Milwaukee opinions are being formed with little thought to Mantle. The dead-panned, oft-injured Mickey struck out enough to drive you crazy this year. He will wind up with a batting average of only about .300. But he has hit more than 40 home runs and drawn a walk for every strikeout or thereabouts.

How anybody can figure out a seven-game series without including him as the big factor escapes thinking here.

In the last three World Series, to resort to the dryness of figures for a moment, 12 of the 21 games were won by two runs or less. Tight pitching is the key. A long ball or two usually is the difference.

In six World Series, including abbreviated appearances in 1903 and 1919, Mantle hit nine home runs. There is nothing here to excite, but a sound Mantle, swinging from both sides of the plate, has to be figured on for at least two into the seats in seven games.

This time he is well overdue for more. Just as Lew Burdette is dead due to get murdered somewhere along the line.

So think a little about Mickey Mantle in this World Series. Think of how far he can hit a ball.

Then see if you can say that you could see anybody favored over the Yankees.
